BATTLE OF TORREON ONE OF FIERCEST IN HISTORY OF MEXICO

American Writer Gives Vivid Description of Terrific Fighting Which Resulted in Capture of Federal Stronghold

REBELS AND THEIR FOES FOUGHT LIKE GRIZZLIES

For More Than a Week the Mountains Rang With Roar of Artillery, While Men Grappled Hand to Hand

BY WILSON SCOTT.

(Special Correspondence.)

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 6.—I have just come in from the battlefields of Torreon, where Mexican fought Mexican with the ferocity of grizzlies and the leadlong courage of Spartan heroes.

For more than a week battle followed battle, charge followed charge. The mountains rang daily and nightly with the detonations of artillery duels.

It was the greatest battle fought on American soil since the American Civil war.

A book could be written, and possibly will be written, of this great battle, but I will only tell you of the scenes that impressed me, the incidents that thrilled me, the sights that burned into the brains of the little squad of Americans who came down here to see General Villa in the sternest test of his battle scarred life.

It was a strange looking army that left Bermudillo, General Villa's base, on that Sunday afternoon which made history in northern Mexico. A horde of 12,000 ragged, high-hatted vagabonds in command of a glorified brigand, moved down the Mexican National railroad track to the attack on Torreon's outlying towns. The flankers of Generals Benavides and Herrera spread out for miles on each side of the track.

Villa himself, his suede uniform disfigured for the bandit garb his men loved so well, rode at the head of the line on his pinto pony, grinning through his snagged teeth and shouting malevolence in Spanish to the smiles of the simply train, or stopped to give a sandal-clad peon soldier a light from his corn husk cigarette.

Off to the south was Gomez Palacio, the federal front, and behind that was the adobe town was the Mountain of the Cross, which marked the goal of all rebel ambitions in the north—Torreon.

FEAR TO LIGHT FIRES.

At sunset they squatted beside the mesquite brush of the desert and munched their tortillas, fearing to light fires, for the attack was to be at night and without warning.

Rifle magazines were crammed full of cartridges, ammunition belts which girded the men two, three and even four times, were inspected and filled, and long boxes having a red "W" stamped on them, the inevitable after-dinner cigarette followed, then—"Tut in!"

The famous ship cannon, El Nino, was silhouetted and loaded. The cavalry mounted their diminutive cow ponies and the infantry broke into the peculiar stiff-kneed shuffle which eats up distance, Villa's saber whistled the silent signal for the charge.

Fifty thousand men threw themselves on Gomez Palacio, where the federal fighters squatted behind a great corral made of adobe brick. Five machine guns were mounted on the wall. General Benavides rode at this wall with his train, brave Zamacona headed the pride of the rebel army, to return two days later with its ranks cut to pieces and more than 200 of the brigade missing.

SCHOOL TEACHER LEADER.

Herrera, the school teacher leader, entered Lerdo, the little town at the foot of the mountains, and was also beaten back.

And this is how it was: Confident that the federals would flee, as they had done at Juarez, at Chihuahua and at Ojinaga, the rebels, old men, boys, soldiers of fortune from foreign lands and even ammunition-bedecked women, had rushed the Britingham corral. The artillery boomed behind them, the machine guns, dead ahead, clacked their medley of death and the rifles spat viciously in the loopholes of the corral.

From Sierra de la Pila, the mountain which browbeat Gomez Palacio to the west, the federal cannon dropped their bursting shrapnel shells among the rebel troops with a deadly hail of bullets.

A little group of outriders gained an adobe house squatting on the edge of the town like a great loaf of brown sugar. A trained federal gunner found the range and dropped a shell through the thatched roof of the house, and the dry, powdered dust flew in the air like an exploding volcano. Not a man came out of that house alive.

A flanking attack was tried by the rebel cavalry under Mavimo Garcia. They shot off from the right of the column, the hats of the vaqueros flying in the air as the riders shooting as they galloped and the throbs of their flag snapping in the breeze.

AGAIN FINDS RANGE.

The rebel infantry charged and recharged like a great corral, when suddenly—

Los federales shouted some panic-crazed boy in the ranks.

It was taken up and repeated down the wavering lines of the rebels. Panic spread and the lines broke.

Villa, who had ridden to the rear to plead with the hyper-lithe General Angeles to bring up the artillery, rode back to the firing line in a break-neck gallop.

"Mi dios—is this the way you mountain men fight, adalante!" he screamed. "Adalante!"

Lieutenant Walter H. Cheshire Gives Exhibition of Skill and Bravery

New York's trained athletic policemen haven't cornered the bravery and skill market yet. Fulton county has at least one officer richly endowed with these commendable qualities, and he had a glorious opportunity to prove it beyond the shadow of a doubt Sunday morning, when he pulled down a wild runaway horse.

Lieutenant Walter H. Cheshire is the man. He was riding slowly along the paved Piedmont avenue road on his motorcycle about 10 o'clock, keeping his eye peeled for speeding automobiles, as he neared the junction of this road and the Peachtree road beyond Buckhead, he observed a cloud of fast flying dust coming toward him on the Peachtree road from the direction of Buckhead. He saw at once that it wasn't an auto breaking the speed laws, but something far more dangerous to the Sunday traffic on the popular thoroughfare—a wild runaway.

The horse was hitched to a light spring wagon, and as he sped along the smooth roadway, automobiles, buggies and pedestrians turned out into the gutters to give him room to pass. A trolley car crowded with golf players on the way to Brookhaven was the only thing that didn't turn out, and even it would have dodged that flying danger if it hadn't been nailed to its tracks, as it were.

Lieutenant Cheshire didn't stop to debate about the best thing to do under the circumstances. He leaped from his motorcycle, left it lying in the Piedmont avenue road and ran out in front of the horse. He missed the bridle by an inch when he grabbed at the animal's head, but as the wagon swept past he got a grip on the tail-end and sprang aboard the craft. It was a superb athletic leap and fully fifty people who were watching the deed from the safety of vehicles on the road got a fine thrill out of it. In an instant the officer had the lines in his hands and in another the frantic horse was jerked from his stride and fell sprawling on the road.

It took just three weeks for Miss Maude Jemison, of Jacksonville, Fla., and E. A. Turner, chief engineer at the Kimball house, to meet, fall in love and be married. Monday morning, following their wedding Sunday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Maude Wesley, 238-A South Pryor street, they left for Jacksonville on their honeymoon.

It all came about through a series of happenings. If Miss Jemison hadn't happened to come to Atlanta to study millinery; if she hadn't happened to walk to see Stone mountain Sunday morning three weeks ago; if Hi C. Dale hadn't happened to offer to show it to her; if each of them hadn't happened to meet Mr. Turner at the Union depot; if Mr. Dale hadn't happened to mention Miss Jemison to Miss Jemison, and if Mr. Turner hadn't happened to go along to Stone Mountain with them—well, the chances are Mr. Turner would never have been to see Miss Jemison as often as he has since their first meeting, and this story wouldn't have been written at all.

Justice the Hardest to Obtain and Needs More Courage, Says President

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—President Wilson today told a group of men here that is guiding him in the selection of public servants. He said he did not believe in choosing men who would decide questions in a certain way, but would select those whom he knew to be just men. The president remarked that to him, it seemed justice was the hardest thing in the world to obtain, and that it required more courage than any other one thing.

Mr. Wilson was discussing his appointment of Prof. Winthrop M. Daniels to the interstate commerce commission, which information was obtained only after a vigorous contest in the senate. The president referred to Mr. Daniels as a just and enlightened man. He had known him intimately for twenty-five years, and he considered him a person of unusual ability.

Mr. Daniels arrived here today and was sworn in as a member of the commission.

'Gen.' Drummond Cries So Loudly Magistrate Cannot Hear Her Case

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 6.—"General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, the militant suffragette, shrieked so loudly when she was arraigned today at the police court in connection with the suffragette disturbances on the Unionist demonstration in Hyde Park Saturday that she had to be forcibly removed.

When Mrs. Drummond entered the prisoner's enclosure she shouted at the top of her voice that she would not permit anyone but herself to speak in the cause, she said, the magistrates and the police courts were "doing the dirty work of Premier Asquith." She then bombarded the court with volleys of verbal shrapnel until she was carried out by wardens.

The magistrate said he would hear the case later in the day.

Aviation Fatal to 38 Men in First Three Months of This Year

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Death levied a heavy toll on aviators for the first three months of this year. Between January 1 and April 1, thirty-eight men lost their lives through the uncertainty of air currents or the failure of their flying machines. The United States, with five killed, stands fourth on the list, which France heads with ten dead. Germany lost eight in the same period, Great Britain seven, Turkey three and Chile, Spain, Argentine, Switzerland and Italy one each.

UNDERWOOD LEADS IN ALABAMA RACE; RECORD VOTE CAST

COMER AND HENDERSON RUNNING NECK AND NECK

Strict Primary Rules Permit Only Democrats Who Voted for Wilson for President to Take Part

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BIRMINGHAM, April 6.—According to non-partisan observers here, nomination of Oscar W. Underwood for the senate seems a sure forecast this afternoon, reports from all section of the state indicates he will carry at least fifty of the sixty-seven counties and that his majority will be between 15,000 and 35,000. Alabama is casting a tremendously heavy vote and the Jefferson county probably will break all records.

The Hobson people have not given up hope, their chief aim in this contest is to delay the vote in the four big city boxes enough to prevent several hundred from casting their ballots, almost every vote cast is being challenged, delaying matters considerably. Instead of the 1,500 or more voters expected in each of these it is probable not more than 1,200 will be able to vote in the ten hours the polls are open.

In regard to the gubernatorial race the Birmingham News says reports indicate former Governor B. B. Comer is leading with Charles Henderson of Troy, second.

Reuben F. Kolb is running strong in the eastern half of the state and his followers claim he will lead Henderson by 10,000, some even claiming he will get a plurality over Comer. Seed is almost certain to be fourth though he is getting a large prohibition vote.

Intense interest in county races here is one of the features of the day. Nomination of one of the prohibition men for sheriff and the state senate and a mixed ticket to the house seem probable.

The extreme southern and northern ends of the state are going overwhelmingly for Underwood while east and west Alabama give the Hobson leaders some encouragement.

However, all claims were conceded by careful observers to be merely conjectures. The ballots throughout the state were unusually long and on account of the numerous candidates for the various offices definite results of the voting probably will not be forthcoming until tomorrow.

Splendid weather prevails all over the state.

In addition to nominating a senator for the remaining March 4 term, next Democrats today voted for a successor to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Joseph F. Johnston, a governor and other state and county officials.

Because of the length of the ballot which contained the names of more than 125 candidates for thirty-odd offices, voting progressed slowly. It was generally believed that various choices would not be definitely known before Tuesday afternoon or possibly later.

CANDIDATES AT POLLS.

Mr. Underwood cast his ballot today in the fourth-first precinct of Birmingham. He arrived at the booth on Avenue P., near Twenty-first street about 8 o'clock. Mr. Underwood came to this city from Washington Saturday for the purpose of voting and of making final appeal for supporters at a local mass meeting.

Representative Hobson voted today at Greensboro, Hale county, Alabama. He was expected to return to Birmingham tonight to receive the returns.

Stringent rules formulated by the state Democratic convention governed today's primary. Officials had been instructed to permit only Democrats who had voted for Woodrow Wilson for president to cast ballots. Weather conditions generally were good. The polls in the thirty-seven districts were to close at 5 o'clock and in the city at 6 o'clock.

The candidate nominated for the short term in the United States senate to expire on March 3, next, will be ratified at a special general election on May 12.

On the same day a second primary will be held to help cases where candidates for state officers failed to receive a majority of votes cast today.

The actual election for a United States senator to serve the long term beginning March 4, 1915, and of state and county officers will take place at the general election next November. This will be merely a ratification of today's primary.

Candidates for the most important offices for whom ballots were cast today were as follows:

For a long term in the United States senate: Oscar W. Underwood and Richmond Pearson Hobson.

For the short term in the United States senate, Watt T. Brown, of Ragland; Ray Rushton, Montgomery, and Josiah Frank S. White, Birmingham.

For member of the national house of representatives: John W. Abercrombie, First district; Representative George W. Taylor and O. L. Gray, Choctaw county; First district; Representative S. Hubert Dent and Woodford Mayberry, Montgomery district; Representative Henry D. Clayton and Henry B. Steagall Dale, Third district; Representative Frederick M. Blackmon and E. L. Deason, Chilton, Fourth district; Representative John A. Steagall and L. B. Rains, Etowah, Seventh district.

To succeed Representative Underwood, in Ninth district; George W. Darden, Elouit; Jere C. King, George Hudleston and Nathan L. Master, all of Jefferson.

To succeed the late Representative J. W. Richardson in the Eighth district; W. W. Callahan, of Morgan; J. H.

ISN'T THIS THE DULL SEASON?

Wheels of Divorce Mill Grinding for Reno Week

132 Mismated Persons Will Closely Watch Thumbs of Jurymen in Fulton County Superior Court This Week

It's Reno week in the superior court. One hundred and thirty-two married persons are asking for divorces—and, as the cases are not being fought, the chances are that they will all get them.

An air of carnival pervaded Judge Ellis' courtroom as the divorce mill started grinding early Monday morning.

Fair would-be divorcees, happy in the knowledge that their husbands are making no efforts to keep them in chains of Hymen, thronged the benches, decked in spring finery, waiting for the verdict of the accommodating jury which would set them free.

Judge Ellis' courtroom was the divorce court first thing Monday morning.

"All out for Reno," he cried, inspired. Everybody walked out. Since that trip, "All out for Reno" were the magic words that emptied the elevator every time.

The first case consumed five minutes. Five minutes for the evidence—the first case naturally took longer than usual, as the machinery of the court had not begun working smoothly—and ten seconds for the verdict.

The jury does not leave the boy. After the divorce juries have been at it for a day or so, they generally devise a set of signals, to be used in complicated cases. For instance, thumbs up means alimony; down, none; two fingers up, children to the wife; down to the husband. In simple cases, where separation is all that is asked, a nod or shake of the head does it. A nod is always in order, as the cases are not contested.

The twelve men who are the official disruptors of weddings are W. A. Hancock, A. F. Allman, J. B. Bryson, R. H. Kelley, J. W. Otts, W. E. Holcomb, A. T. Deckner, J. O. Wells, Chas. T. Turner, W. M. Kelsey, C. H. Cartledge, and Virgil Collier.

SLATON NOT TO RESIGN FOR SENATE CAMPAIGN

Says He Will Remain Governor Until People Decide Otherwise

Governor Slaton, who on Saturday evening announced that he would be a candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Bacon, will not resign the governor's office until after the primary elections on August 19.

Governor Slaton made this very clear Monday morning. He said: "I was elected governor for a two-year term by the people, and when I resign it will be by the authority and command of the people themselves. If the people in the primary record it as their will that I shall leave the governorship and represent them in the United States senate then, of course, I will resign, and in doing so I will obey the mandate of the people. I would not feel authorized to resign the governorship until I had consulted the people. They elected me to the governorship and it is for them to say whether I shall be promoted to the senate.

"By the time the primary is held the legislature will have adjourned, and the period between then and the inauguration of a new governor will be an interregnum, so to speak. I will have accomplished all I can accomplish, as there will be no more sessions of the general assembly during my term of office."

TO RESIGN IF NAMED.

Although the governor did not so state it is believed that in the event he is nominated for the United States senate in the primary he will resign the governorship about September 30, and should his candidacy be unsuccessful he will not resign at all.

Should the governor wait until after October 7, the date of the general state elections, to resign it would be necessary to call a special session of the new legislature, which will be nominated at the August primary and ratified in the October elections—to choose a new president of the senate in order that an acting governor may be provided.

Section 6461 of the State constitution, under the heading "Terms of Members of the General Assembly" provides: "The members of the general assembly shall be held for two years and shall serve until their successors are elected."

The successors to the members of the present general assembly will be let in on October 7. After that date should it be necessary to call a special session of the legislature the newly elected members could be called together.

Thus stands that if Governor Slaton waited until after October 7 to resign there would be no necessity for the senate to act as governor and a special session of the legislature would be necessary to choose one.

In such event not only would a heavy expense be incurred by the state, but J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, now president of the senate, and prospective candidate for governor, would be denied the opportunity to serve out Governor Slaton's term, which expires in June, 1915.

With the authorized announcement on Sunday that Governor Slaton had en-

BURNS INTIMATES FRANK DID NOT COMMIT CRIME

Detective Is Completing Details of Report on Phagan Murder Case

William J. Burns, the detective, has again strongly intimated that his report will not name Leo M. Frank as the murderer of Mary Phagan.

Discussing the report Monday morning Mr. Burns said: "I am not going to hurry my report—for it is extremely important to the defendant, and it is also extremely important that the report will be such that it will convince solicitor Dorsey and the court."

"Then you think Mr. Dorsey needs to be convinced?" he was asked.

"He certainly does," replied the detective.

"If Dorsey needs to be convinced, then why not just name Conley as the murderer?" was the next question.

The detective laughed. "You are trying to get a newspaper sensation," he said.

Burns indicated Monday that his report might be delayed until the end of the week.

"About the report I will say only this," he remarked, "that I will stick right on the job until it is completed. I have already spent more time than I would like in Atlanta and other matters are waiting for me, but I shall stay right here until it is over."

While the important work of Burns and his agents on the case is said to be completed, there are said to be several minor matters requiring time. In addition the report, when it is finally made public, will be quite a voluminous document, the actual writing of which will require considerable time.

While Mr. Burns still expects to arrange an interview with the negro Jim Conley through Attorney William M. Smith, he said he would not take up the matter Monday.

PRESIDENT OF INSURANCE ADJUSTORS FALLS DEAD

W. J. Gregory Succumbs in Pullman Car at Birmingham Depot

W. J. Gregory, president of the W. J. Gregory company, insurance adjusters, died suddenly Monday morning in the depot at Birmingham, Ala., on the Pullman car in which he had left Atlanta the trip to Birmingham. The news was received in Atlanta by W. W. Wishmeyer, Mr. Gregory's office, the railroad agent at Birmingham, having called up over the long distance telephone. Death is attributed to heart trouble.

Mr. Gregory left Atlanta Sunday night at 7 o'clock. He was apparently in good health, and the news of his death was a surprise to his office associates. He was fifty-two years old and had been a resident of Atlanta for ten years. His home was at 126 East Eleventh street.

His wife, who survives him, is in Chicago; and until news is received from her arrangements for the funeral will not be completed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 6.—Walter C. Clark, territorial governor of Alaska from 1909 to 1912, announced tonight that he had purchased the Charleston Daily Mail, an afternoon paper. He will take charge immediately.

DR. DANIEL'S IRE IS AROUSED IN DEBATE ON LOCKER CLUBS

IS OFFENDED BY PHRASE INDORSING RESOLUTION

Measure Is Passed as He Wished It, Indorsing "Action" of First Baptist Church Instead of "Principle"

Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, angrily left the Evangelical Ministers' conference Monday morning when the conference entered into a debate over a phrase indorsing the "locker club" resolutions recently passed by his church.

Dr. Daniel had risen from his seat in one of the back rows of the First Presbyterian church, where the conference was held, and was walking toward the aisle.

"Come back; we'll arrange it," added Dr. Wilmer.

Dr. Daniel had reached the aisle and was walking toward the door. Without looking back, he hurried through the door and down the steps.

"I move," said Dr. Wilmer, "that we pass this indorsement worded as Dr. Daniel wants it."

After the minutes' perplexing debate, the resolution, was passed, with only Dr. Wilmer voting against it.

As the meeting closed Dr. Owens shook hands warmly with Dr. Wilmer.

"You're a good fellow," exclaimed Dr. Owens, "you didn't vote the resolution as it was, and you voted against it. But you moved to have it considered because of Dr. Daniel."

WANTED WORD CHANGED.

In the concluding part of the resolution debated Monday morning by the Evangelical Ministers' association was the clause:

"We do heartily approve the action of the First Baptist church, Atlanta, in its resolutions adopted March 15, and commend it to the conscientious consideration of all members."

Dr. Wilmer moved to have the word "principle" substituted for "action."

As Dr. Daniel was speaking against this motion Dr. L. O. Bricker, chairman of the conference, asked for a vote.

"I insist that you put my motion against this change," exclaimed Dr. Daniel, "for to do so will be a piece of, usurpation on the part of the chairman. You will be acting in a manner unworthy of your office."

As the chairman raised his hand as though to put Dr. Wilmer's motion, despite Dr. Daniel's protest, the latter reached for his hat.

Dr. Wilmer called to him, so did Dr. Bricker, but in a moment Dr. Daniel had disappeared through the door.

An instant later Dr. Wilmer urged that Dr. Daniel's motion be considered. Then, when the motion had been brought, it was voted for by all.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

"Resolved (1) That it is incompatible with the principles and purposes for this church for its members to be identified with organizations which derive revenue for their maintenance from the sale of alcoholic beverages.

"(2) That recognizing the place and value of social and commercial clubs in the life of the city, this church urges upon those of its members, who are connected with such clubs, the duty and opportunity of using their influence therein towards eliminating from the same any unlawful features that may obtain.

"(3) That in the event of the failure of such clubs to make the necessary and needed reforms in the club life of the city, the members of this church should promptly sever all connection with such clubs."

The resolutions finally passed Monday morning by the Evangelical Conference in which the "action" of the First Baptist church was approved, are:

"That as citizens we maintain as an incontestable proposition that no citizen should knowingly participate in or in any wise aid, abet or encourage the violation of a law of the state whose constitution and laws he has taken oath to support, and that we do so as inconsistent with patriotism and civic honor.

That as ministers of the gospel

SITES FOR BANK CENTERS JUSTIFIED BY STATISTICS

Figures Prove That Regional Institutions Were Properly Distributed

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—A series of tabulations dealing with the banking interests and resources of the cities that sought designation as reserve bank centers was given out yesterday by the organization committee. The figures constitute the committee's justification for its action. They serve not only as an unanswerable reply to the criticisms that have been made, but also provide an interesting illumination of business and banking facts. The tabulation reflects most favorably on the city of Atlanta, and it is doubtful if the combined ingenuity of the Ad Men's club and the chamber of commerce could have devised a better national advertisement for the Gate City of the south.

For example, there has been a special outcry on the criticism that Richmond, Baltimore and New Orleans were not made bank cities, while Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas, all of them much smaller cities in point of population than either Baltimore or New Orleans, were selected.

ATLANTA BANKS INCREASE.

The organization committee's compilations of data concerning the banking interests of these various cities show that Baltimore has 658,000 population, and New Orleans 339,000, yet these two cities were rejected, and Richmond, with only 127,000, Atlanta with 154,000 and Dallas with only 92,000 of population were made regional bank cities.

The organization committee's reasons for rejecting Baltimore and New Orleans in favor of the smaller cities, have to do entirely, it is declared, with the conditions of the banking business as now organized in the various communities, and with the probable developments of the next few years. For example, in the decade from 1902 to 1913 the capital and surplus of Atlanta National banks increased 269 per cent, while the increase for New Orleans banks was only 42 per cent.

In 1902 the capital and surplus of New Orleans banks was $5,790,000, while Atlanta at that time could claim a total of only $2,330,000. But in the succeeding decade Atlanta's business gained by leaps and bounds so that in 1913 Atlanta showed $8,609,000 of capital and surplus, while New Orleans showed only $8,300,000.

And this is not all of the showing in favor of Atlanta as against New Orleans. The total of loan and discount business for the Atlanta banks in 1913 is given as $56,856,000, while the same figure for the New Orleans banks is only $24,467,000. Thus in this item, which is the real index of the volume of banking business transacted in the town, Atlanta increased 165 per cent on the decade, while New Orleans increased only 41 per cent.

Still more impressive in favor of Atlanta is the showing in the figures on individual deposits. Dallas principal reported $16,006,000 of individual deposits while Atlanta had only $8,000,000, but 1903 is ancient history as regards rivalry between Atlanta and New Orleans. In 1913 Atlanta had actually passed New Orleans in this item, reporting $25,342,000 of individual deposits, while New Orleans reported $20,611,000.

CITY AT STANDSTILL.

An even more effective argument in favor of Atlanta as against New Orleans was produced by the examination in detail of the business done by the banks in the different cities. For example, it was found that in 1913 New Orleans national banks had loans and discounts outstanding in the southern states amounting to $19,477,000, while at the same time Atlanta's loans and discounts in the same geographical division were $26,117,000. Even Dallas presented a total of $19,123,000, or almost exactly the same as that of New Orleans.

So far as the case for New Orleans is concerned, the old city seems to have been approximately standing still, while her rivals have outstripped her in the race for financial supremacy. The report of the organization committee emphasize the fact that this showing was quite as much of a surprise to them as it doubtless will be to most other people who have not been in very close touch with the details of business developments, since the beginning of the present century. This had a great deal to do with the selection of Atlanta and Dallas, the committee naturally concluding that as those cities had made such tremendous strides in the last decade while New Orleans had advanced at a much less notable pace therefore it might reasonably be presumed that in coming decades much the same relation would be maintained.

BALTIMORE'S DEFEAT.

Baltimore's defeat by Richmond is explained on two grounds. First, when the preferences of the bankers in the territory assigned to the Richmond district were asked, the poll gave an overwhelming vote in favor of Richmond as against Baltimore.

In fact, nearly every bank in the district, outside of Maryland and Virginia, voted for Richmond. This, of course was the result of Richmond's geographical advantage in being near the center of the territory.

The second factor which weighed heavily in favor of Richmond, as against either Baltimore or Washington, was the fact that an analysis of the business of Baltimore national banks developed that they were not doing nearly so much business with the southern states as were the banks of Richmond.

On this point the tabulation of data is extremely interesting. As of Dec. 12, 1914, it is shown that Baltimore national banks reported total loans of $25,000,000, Richmond national banks $35,000,000 and Washington national banks $27,000,000. It was further shown that of the loans and discounts of the Baltimore banks, $50,000,000 were in the eastern states and less than $2,000,000 in the southern states, while on the other hand the Richmond banks had more than $35,000,000 of their loans and discounts in the southern states. That is to say, the figures showed that, although Baltimore had outstanding $50,000,000 as against Richmond's $35,000,000 of loans and discounts, yet Richmond was doing five times as much banking business in the south as Baltimore.

Baltimore's claim to bring an essentially southern city fell down under the showing of the facts about its national banking business.

HOKE SMITH'S BRIEF.

The tendencies of financial development counted strongly in favor of Richmond against either Baltimore or Washington. For instance, in the decade from 1902 to 1913 Baltimore national banks showed an increase of 38 per cent in their individual deposits and of 35 per cent in their loans and discounts, while Richmond national banks were able to report for the same period an increase of 152 per cent in individual deposits and of 207 per cent in loans and discounts.

New Orleans also suffered by this particular comparison. It showed an increase of only 41 per cent in individual deposits during the decade and 41 per cent in loans and discounts, while Atlanta showed an increase of 125 per cent in individual deposits and of 165 per cent in loans and discounts.

During the decade the capital and surplus of New Orleans national banks increased only 42 per cent, while capital and surplus of Atlanta banks increased 269 per cent and of Dallas banks 230 per cent.

The very able brief of Senator Hoke Smith, which was published in these dispatches on last Friday, is believed to have directed the committee's attention to the comparative figures as between Atlanta and New Orleans which the table tabulation given out yesterday develops so clearly. After the hearing in Atlanta in February, Senator Smith, it is said, to his surprise that the capital and surplus of the Atlanta banks were greater than that of New Orleans. He made the same discovery regarding individual deposits and the loans and discounts of the Atlanta and New Orleans banks. The figures impressed no more with these discoveries than with the fact that Atlanta had developed by leaps and bounds while New Orleans had grown but little.

NINE LABORERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF GAS

Disaster Overtakes Workers in Caisson of New Bridge at Memphis

(By Associated Press.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 6.—Nine men met death here today when they were caught by a gas explosion in caisson No. 5 of the new Hernando bridge, under construction across the Mississippi river. The men, all of whom were white, it is said, had just gone to work, relieving a shift composed of ten negroes.

The caisson in which the explosion took place is near the Arkansas shore, and is ninety feet deep. The negroes who had just been relieved, it is said, were in a room about fifteen feet from the surface, when they encountered the first rush of gas and scurried for the top.

According to reports, Peter Watson, one of the victims, was not a member of the shift, but went down to investigate the origin of the gas. None of the negroes, who had been working in the depths all night, would accompany him, and the fact that Watson's body was found in one of the rooms nearer the top than the other dead, indicated he met his death by asphyxiation before reaching his fellow-workers.

VENEZUELAN EXILES POSTPONE REVOLUTION

Lack of Capital Hampers Work for Proposed Ousting of President Gomez

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Venezuelan exiles who have been operating in Curacao and Trinidad for several months, have abandoned their revolutionary projects for the time being, according to General F. L. Alcantara, one of the revolutionary chiefs now in this city.

The exiles had hoped to depose Juan Gomez, the president of Venezuela, but had been hampered by lack of capital, it is stated.

"It was impossible to effect a coalition of the revolutionary chiefs," General Alcantara said in making the announcement that the planned revolution collapsed.

General Hernandez (El Mocha) is in this city and General Baptista is on his way to Spain, while General Olivarez will go to Columbia. The headquarters of the various chiefs have been given up. The revolution, as previously announced, was to have been inaugurated following the Venezuelan elections toward the end of April.

FAMOUS TEMPERANCE WORKER DIES IN MAINE

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, President of National W. C. T. U., Succumbs at Her Home

PORTLAND, Me., April 6.—Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, died here today. She had been ill for several weeks with kidney trouble.

Mrs. Stevens, who was born in Dover, Me., seventy years ago, continued to the last the temperance work to which she had devoted most of her life. Her mind remained clear and late last week she was able to dictate correspondence in connection with the duties of her office which she had held since 1898. With her when the end came were her husband, Michael Stevens, her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude S. Leavitt, of this city, and Miss Anna Gordon, of Evanston, Ill., vice president of the National W. C. T. U.

BRYAN IS ALMOST RECOVERED FROM COLD

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Secretary Bryan, who has been suffering from a heavy cold, still was confined to his home today, but was up and about, giving personal attention to state department affairs.

THEATERS

A bill of more than brilliant promise is the attraction that commences a week at the Forsyth matinee and night today. There will be regular daily matinee and evening performances during the week. The usual heavy advance sale and permanent reservation indicates crowded attendance. The reputation of some of the features on the bill will serve to attract a great many people who are not regular vaudeville patrons and because of special features it is predicted that the matinee performances will enjoy almost unusual patronage.

Ray Cox, one of the most popular of the distinguished American comediennes will be the headline attraction. With a new cycle of songs and character studies Miss Cox promises to eclipse the former success she has registered here. This talented entertainer has had a thorough schooling in musical comedy and farce comedy and her vaudeville experiences established her as one of the real headliners of this branch of things theatrical. She creates her own songs and idea of comedy and will surely be a drawing card.

The Rolland and company presenting "Fixing the Furnace" will be one of the comedy cards that will stand as a fine spring tonic and cure for the blues. It is conceded that this act has won more laughs than any farce in vaudeville. Rolland is a comedian of exceptional quality and his support is splendid. Arthur Deacon, the well known musical comedy comedian, will contribute to the general entertaining, presenting songs that are original and saying that will be repeated. The Alexander Kids, famous juvenile stars, will make their first local appearance and they will serve as powerful drawing cards at matinees. They are conceded to be the cleverest children in all vaudeville. A novel screen act will add to the attractiveness of the bill in the Weigraph, a new idea that is going to be popular, and Paul LaCroix, "The Mat Hatter," will furnish fun in his scheme of entertainment.

The special added feature to the bill is Cora Youngblood Carson's "Girls of the Golden West," a combination of ten pretty girls, each a wonderfully skilled musician. The personal charm of the young ladies and their value as musicians will add much to the interest in the bill.

Lucville LaVerne's company has started to work with the determination to make the special spring and summer season at the Lyric a big and genuine success. The company will open its engagement the week of April 13, next Monday, and the introduction play will be David Belasco's triumph in dramatic success, "The Lily." The LaVerne company was established with the original sketch and plots of the scenes and effects and skilled mechanics commenced the work of building the production early Monday morning. Rehearsals have been taking the time of the players since the organization, and twice Mr. Belasco gave valuable hints to the members as to will appear in "The Lily." The box office at the Lyric is open—telephone Ivy 213—for the reservation of seats. Theater-goers may select seats for the season and arrange to have locations as desired until the first.

"The Dope," a six-reel photo-play will be the Easter week attraction at the Grand. This picture was taken from the great vaudeville sketch and is being booked exclusively by the picture department of the Keith offices. The fact alone is enough that the feature is perfect and that it will be offered in just such places appealing to a high class patronage.

Mr. Lieb was a member of the Joseph Kilgore company that played the Grand some seasons ago, and his sketch is one of the big things of vaudeville, so big that it has never been seen out of the Keith circuit. The United booking offices have induced the owner to have the motion picture made and will book it in first-class theaters only. There will be daily matinees and evening exhibitions at popular prices.

GOVERNMENT LOSES SUIT AGAINST SOUTHERN ROADS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Requirements of southern railroads that projectiles, empty or solid, other than small arm projectiles, shall be transported as first-class freight was held by the Interstate Commerce commission today to be a proper classification and the rate not unreasonable. Complaint of the United States as to the classification was dismissed.

But Five Short Days Left of The Journal's Easter Gift Campaign

Next Saturday Night at Ten o'Clock Will Witness the Close, and the Prizes Will Be Won by Those Who Have Striven Hardest During the Campaign—Short Time of Effort Remains

JUST FIVE DAYS AWAY FROM SUCCESS! Five more days—next Saturday night—The Atlanta Journal's Big Easter Gift Campaign comes to a close. Your race is almost run, and just a few more days of earnest endeavor will give you the splendid prizes that you have been longing for and working for since the inception of the campaign. Does not the October glint and spur you on to even greater efforts during the short time that is left? Just think; your reward is in reserve, waiting for you. THESE FIVE REMAINING DAYS can bring you a THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD, a handsome automobile, or one of a long list of handsome and desirable prizes. It is almost too good to be true. Is it not?

When you entered the campaign you thought of the time before you could claim your prize, but NOW—why, your reward is only a few hours away, and this is the week to win it. During this one short week the work done will win the prizes, and CAN YOU AFFORD TO LET VICTORY SLIP FROM YOUR GRASP NOW, AFTER HAVING WORKED SO ENERGETICALLY UP TO THIS PRESENT TIME? Surely you certainly cannot afford to lose now, in justice to yourself and the friends who have so loyally rallied you, and THIS IS exactly why THIS WEEK, THE FINAL ONE, IS SO IMPORTANT AND IS GOING TO WITNESS SO MUCH REAL HARD-NEST AND PERSEVERING WORK.

NO LET-UP IN EFFORTS THIS WEEK. There will be no let-up in the amount of effort put forth by candidates during this final week. On the contrary, this entire week will be a time of effort and determined work. Why? Because no candidate is going to race has been too close to allow anyone to count on success, and that is why it is important for every candidate to do his or her level best now. And even after you have done your level best, put on a little more steam and DO A LITTLE MORE. It is better to have a safe margin, especially when the finish is so close at hand than to risk losing all that you have worked for all during the campaign. And it is certain that every candidate is going to exert himself or herself NOW.

NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT THE FINISH.

Next Saturday night at 10 p. m. is the closing day and hour, and after this time all the effort in the world will not gain you your prize. ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS MAILED BY CANDIDATES OUTSIDE OF ATLANTA BY OUTLOOK NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT WILL BE ACCEPTED AND COUNTED EVEN THOUGH THEY DO NOT REACH US UNTIL A DAY OR SO LATER. WE WILL ACCEPT THE POSTMARK OR POSTMASTER'S SIGNATURE AS SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE THAT THE RULES OF THE CAMPAIGN HAVE BEEN COMPLIED WITH.

MOTTO FOR EVERYONE THIS WEEK.

The motto for every candidate this week, and the best advice we can possibly give, is contained in the names of New York's favorite plays:

Work like "The Devil," cultivate a "Strongheart," care not for "The World and His Wife," and you'll be a winner.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Notice of Bond Election to be Held Upon the Issuance of Bonds for Grady Hospital. Date of Election Tuesday, May 5, 1914.

STATE OF GEORGIA, COUNTY OF FULTON, CITY OF ATLANTA:

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of the City of Atlanta that the mayor and general council of said city have called an election, to be held at the several voting precincts in the city of Atlanta, within the legal hours for holding elections, on Tuesday, the 5th day of May, 1914, to determine whether or not bonds of the city of Atlanta shall be issued, by the requisite two-thirds majority, under the act of the legislature of Georgia, approved August 16, 1913, beginning July 1, 1915, in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness, and the interest on said bonds to be payable semi-annually, beginning six months after date, and to be paid in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness.

If said issue of bonds is executed, for the requisite sum, an annual tax shall thereafter be levied, beginning with the year 1914 and running through to the year 1943, to be levied and collected by authority of the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta, on the taxable property within said city, sufficient in amount to pay the interest semi-annually on said issue of bonds, and for the payment of $25,000.00 per annum of the principal of said bonds, and the fund so raised annually on account of the principal of said bonds shall be applied only to the payment of said bonds as they mature. The proceeds of said bonds shall be applied exclusively for rebuilding, new buildings and extensions to Grady hospital, with modern fixtures and furnishings for same, and for purchasing such land as may be needed by said hospital.

Voters at said election favoring the issue of bonds for rebuilding, new buildings and extensions to Grady hospital, with modern fixtures and furnishings for same, and for purchasing such land as may be needed by said hospital, shall have written or printed on their tickets the words:

"For the issue of Seven Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($750,000.00) Dollars of bonds for the Improvement of Grady Hospital."

Voters opposing the issuance of such bonds shall have written or printed on their tickets the words:

"Against the issue of Seven Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($750,000.00) Dollars of bonds for the Improvement of Grady Hospital."

Notice is also given that the tax collector of the City of Atlanta, state of Georgia, the registrar of voters for elections ordered by the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta, the books of registration open for the purpose of registering the qualified voters of the city, under ordinances and laws governing same, and such registration and books of registration open daily, Sundays excepted, until within ten days of the date of said election at his office, No. 4 East Hunter street, at the South Pryor street and Central avenue, in the city of Atlanta, said county and state, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. for registration books, a qualified list of voters in the city elections for the present year and on said bond issue, will be permitted to vote in said election.

This notice is given in pursuance of an ordinance calling for said election, approved on the 1st day of April, 1914.

Given under the official hand and seal of said city and by the authority and in the name of the mayor and general council of said city and likewise by authority of and in the name of the city of Atlanta on this the 2d day of April, 1914.

GEO. G. WOODWARD,
Mayor of the City of Atlanta.

WALTER C. TAYLOR,
Clerk of Council of the City of Atlanta.

Our Grandsires Took It

Our hardy ancestors didn't know or want mollycoddle remedies for bilious conditions. They didn't want to be always taking something. They took Podophyllin, the vegetable calomel, as soon as they noticed the coated tongue—the dizziness—the achy feeling—the blood waves—and released the Bile from the Liver. They said "to make the Liver act," but we have learned that the Liver is but a strainer and that Bile clogs in the Liver, leaving the body a prey to the putrid matter that should be disinfected by the Bile.

Your ancestors knew that it was necessary to start this Bile, and didn't temporize. They took May-Apple Root in some form, and while it griped and sickened, they took it because it Did Deliver The Bile.

In PoDoLax you have the same thing, but without the gripe and nausea. It acts so quietly all that you are never disturbed in your daily vocations.

You or your children should take a spoonful at bedtime as soon as you notice the bad taste—the bad breath—the coated tongue. Do so and you are free of it the next day. To have it in the house means to take it early and be relieved quickly—so by all means get a bottle at the first drug store and take a dash in the morning.

If we could only prove to you that PoDoLax is not a purging cathartic—not a mollycoddle laxative—but a gentle loosening of the Bile from the Liver—you would require no urging. Our word should provide a family bottle for regular use. A trial is the only proof.

Call for Progressive State Convention

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Progressive Party of Georgia held in the Ansley Hotel, Atlanta, on March, 1914, I was instructed, as State Chairman, to issue a call for a State Convention to meet at the State Capitol in the City of Atlanta at noon on May 12, 1914—the purpose of said Convention being to formulate a State Platform, to name a State Committee, a member of the National Committee and to nominate a State Ticket, with candidates for the United States Senate.

The basis of representation will be two delegates and two alternates for each member of the Lower House of the General Assembly.

All qualified white voters in sympathy with the purposes of the Progressive movement are requested to meet in mass convention at some suitable place in their counties at some date prior to May 1 for the purpose of electing these delegates and creating a county committee.

The names of delegates and alternates chosen to the State Convention should be certified before May 5 to William J. Tilson, State Chairman, at 1701 Hurt Building, Atlanta, or Dean F. Ryman, State Secretary, 319 Atlanta National Bank Building, Atlanta.

While the State Executive Committee recognizes that it is not within its province to dictate in district and county matters, it was the sense of the meeting that we should recommend to Progressive voters over the State the propriety of making nominations for Congress in each Congressional District, and candidates for the State Senate and Lower House of the General Assembly in every Senatorial District and County.

Attest:
DEAN F. RYMAN, Secretary.

WILLIAM J. TILSON,
State Chairman.

"Why so cheerful, Arnold?" somebody said.

"Why, I just happened to get married Friday," he replied. And with that his fellow-officers crowded around him with congratulations that stopped for a moment only when he told his story.

It seems that Arnold, who is twenty-seven years old and has been a member of the force four years, had been in love for some time with Miss Alice McGee, a student at a local business college.

The young lady's father, Michael E. McGee, of engine house No. 4, objected to the match on account of his daughter's age. She is only seventeen.

So Friday afternoon Officer Arnold met her at Five Points. They found two friends, went to the home of Rev. E. L. Vaughan, 56 Larkin street, and were married.

They kept the wedding secret until Monday when Mr. McGee was told and gave them the parental blessing. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold will be at home to their friends at 454 Crew street.

PASTOR GIVES TALK ON FATAL BOXING BOUT

In his sermon before a large congregation at the East Atlanta Baptist church Sunday night, the pastor, Rev. Julien S. If $25 Is the Sum Set Aside for Your Easter Suit, See These New Arrivals

MR. Grump is Dead
Cheer up

GRUMP is dead. He and all the Grouch family of pall-bearers passed out when our Profit-Sharing Plan came in.

—The Profit-Sharing Plan is working admirably. Our salespeople are delighted with it; many of them made a fat bonus last week; more will share in its beneficent operations this week.

—Each salesperson is alert, passing out a smile with every sale. It's so pleasant, they say, to sell the new Easter merchandise that people want, and to receive a bonus for doing it.

New neckwear, hosiery, gloves, jewelry and everything that goes with the Easter hat and suit.

—We're proud of these suits at $25; partly because of the modish materials; more because of the fine workmanship; but chiefly because of the clever styles.

—Style is an elusive, subtle quality. Even the master artists try many models before they "put over" the one style that "arrives." Every style in this sale has "arrived." They result from our buyer's New York trip in Mid-March. The Fashion show was on; Paquin was staging her models; every style thought had been contributed to Fashion. Our buyer selected his styles; our makers copied or adapted them. These $25 suits result. Choose from—

A Jenny Model at $25.00

—Natty serge. Short cutaway coat with belted back, frogs, and revers and cuffs of surah silk. Two tier skirt.

A Premet Copy at $25.00

A Drecoll Model at $25.00

A Papillion Moire at $25.00

A dozen other equally fashionable styles in black and colors, at $25.

Up to $2 Laces & Embroideries In a Wonderful Clearaway at 49c

A 9 o'clock spring house cleaning in laces and embroideries. Choose from

$1 to $2 Hand-embroidered Waist Fronts, 49c—White voile or lingerie with Madeira embroidery work; some with lace insertion.

$2 to $3 Allover Venise Laces 49c—100 yards of allover Venise laces in cream or white. 18 inches wide.

$1 to $1.50 Flouncings 49c—Mulls and nainsooks, embroidered in the charming Venise, Baby Irish and Carrickmacross designs. 27 inches.

Just Arrived: Nearly 500 New Gossard Corsets.

This Notice will Insure their distribution, for Atlanta Women know and want the Front-Lace Gossard.

THE Gossard Corset Co. is expanding beyond its anticipations. Demand is greater than their capacity to supply. That's why we've been out of certain numbers. Complete stock now, however; will our customers who have so graciously waited come in for their fittings?

Here is why the Gossard is recommended by Doctors and Dressmakers:

1—It conforms to the normal contour of the female body, inducing correct posture by fitting snugly in the back.

2—It serves as a perfect hygienic abdominal support.

3—It is rigid where rigidity is physiological; it yields and bends easily where motion is required.

4—The front lacing feature makes it easily adjustable at any time.

There is a special Gossard corset for every fashionable and functional purpose. A special Gossard representative is here to give medical and maternity fittings. Gossard corsets are $2, $3.50, $5, up to $25. Catalogue upon application.

Under Every Easter Skirt There Should be a Klosfit Petticoat

—A smooth, close hugging petticoat is the foundation for a good hanging skirt. Klosfit petticoats—the style you see advertised in the cars—fit without a wrinkle. A gusset seam at side takes up any fullness. In sizes slender, average or full figure—we have them all, in all-silk Jersey; all-silk messaline, or Jersey with messaline flounce. Black, white and leading colors. $5.

$6.50 to $8.50 Silk Petticoats at $3.89

Maxixe Chains 50c

A New Neck Fixing

THOUGH Rich's is always first with the new things, this is the first time we've had enough of the Maxixe chains to advertise. The chain is of a ribbon or cord of silk or satin. Attached to it, a "dangling and a tangling," are colored beads and Oriental jades. Clever and attractive.

Rose Beads for Easter Gifts

—Years ago the early Spanish Monks in California had a process of working rose petals into a pulp and then molding them into beads. Hardening like adamant, the beads held inviolate the sweet odor of the rose. But the process was slow and tedious; the beads consequently costly, and the art died. This lost art has been revived. Machinery, working with the skill of a thousand fingers, now reproduces even better beads than the Monks made.

Fair and fragrant, these beads make the richest necklace in Nature's realm.

At 50c the beads are the size of a pea, in old blue, purple, green or black. At 98c to $2.50 are beads cunningly fashioned into miniature roses. Interspersed among them are pearl or gold beads. The effect is charming. Various odors in addition to rose. 50c to $2.50. By mail 4c extra.

MUNSING UNION SUITS

MUNSINGWEAR Union Suits are knit of fine spun yarns, wonderfully supple and resilient. Each garment is perfectly shaped and hand finished. Various styles for misses and women; every garment warranted to fit, wear and satisfy. Chiefly low neck and sleeveless, with choice of tight, shell or lace knee. 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50.

Everybody is asking for SILKS and most everybody is finding them at Rich's.

Little Miss Aristocracy in a delightful crepe dress won't hunt Easter Eggs, for —she will think too much of her Easter frock. The dresses are of a charming crinkled crepe, either in plain colors or white in Dolly Varden designs or bestrewn with field flowers.

98c for a flowered crepe with embroidered collar and silk tabs. Long waist model. 2 to 6.

$1.95 for a flowered crepe with a quaint pepium like mother's skirt. 6 to 14.

$2.50 for a flowered crepe with broad sash joined in front with brocaded silk. 6 to 14.

(Juvenile Second Floor.)

$35 Perambulators $25

—Give baby her airing in an English perambulator. Roomy and comfortable with high spring, as shown, to lessen any tension. Old English or reed body, in natural oak or black finish. Leather upholstered, extra large folding hood. 16 and 22-inch rubber tired wheels.

White Kid Gloves With Colored Embroidery Backs Are a Favored Fashion

—White kid gloves with three rows of heavy embroidery stitching on back—blue, green, wistaria, black. Black with white stitching on back is also popular. $1.50.

White Kid Gloves That Wash Like Linen are Called "Washanew"

—Any woman who isn't too tired to wash her own hands can wash her kid gloves by the same process—lukewarm water and ivory soap, and lo!—the gloves are fresh as new.

Short $1.50; 16-button $3.00.

NEW COURT HOUSE WILL BE OPENED FOR MAY 1

One Room to Be Ready for Session of Criminal Division of Superior Court

The next session of the criminal division of the superior court will be held in Fulton county's new $1,300,000 court house.

Full C. Waters, chairman of the board of county commissioners, announced Monday he had completed arrangements to have one of the court rooms in the new structure ready for occupancy for the first of May.

Work on the one room, which is located on the second floor south, is being rushed in order that two criminal courts can be in operation at the same time, and efforts made to clear the congested call.

At the present time the city criminal court, Judge Andy Calhoun presiding, is using the courtroom in the Thrower building, and the superior court, Judge John H. Hill presiding, has adjourned because there is no courtroom at present available.

Judge Calhoun, however, can now continue his session indefinitely, and by the first of May Judge Hill can open his court in the new building.

Chairman Waters stated that the seventh floor in the new structure, which will be occupied by the municipal court, is also being rushed to completion ahead of the rest of the big building and it can be occupied by the first of June. The municipal court's work is now being hampered by a lack of suitable space.

From the first of June various offices will be moved into the new court house very rapidly, Mr. Waters said. After the criminal and the municipal courts have their rooms ready, the first three floors of the building, which will be occupied by the administration offices, sheriff, clerk of courts, tax receiver, tax collector and county commission, will be completed and these offices moved from the present quarters.

Not until these offices have been moved will the various other courts get into the new structure.

By August Mr. Waters thinks, the building, which was commenced in the summer of 1910, will be completed and all county courts and offices installed therein.

UNDERWOOD LEADS IN ALABAMA RACE; RECORD VOTE CAST

Governor's Race Evenly Divided in Montgomery

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 6.—Reports from a greater number of Alabama counties early this afternoon indicated that a record number of votes are being cast in the primary which will decide between Oscar W. Underwood and Richard P. Hobson for United States Senator and B. B. Comer, Charles Henderson, Reuben F. Kolb and Walter D. Seed for governor.

Many silent votes are being cast and it is almost impossible to get a line here on how the state will go or how it has voted during the morning. Comer supporters claim their candidate has shown a great lead while managers of Mr. Kolb say their chief has gained enough votes to make certain his entrance in the run off with Mr. Comer. Montgomery county is voting about even between Mr. Comer, Mr. Henderson and Mr. Kolb according to workers at the polls, but the great silent vote may change the result.

Indications are that the result of the election will not be known before two or three o'clock Tuesday morning.

Underwood and Kolb Lead in South Alabama

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., April 6.—Clear weather in south Alabama today enhanced conditions favorable to the polling of the heaviest vote known at a Democratic primary election. Heavy registration in this county indicated that 6,500 votes would be cast.

Little opinion was expressed by voters in the gubernatorial race, though Reuben F. Kolb was regarded as the stronger candidate.

Indications favored a majority for Oscar W. Underwood over his opponent in the long term senatorial race, R. P. Hobson. More closely contested was the race for congressman from the First district, in which George Washington Taylor, incumbent, is being opposed by Oscar L. Gray.

SOCIALISTS PLAN FIGHT FOR FREE STREET SPEECH

Plans for a campaign to secure the right of "free speech" on the streets of Atlanta were discussed Sunday afternoon by the Socialists of Atlanta at their regular assembly meeting in the Labor temple on Trinity avenue.

It was proposed to hold a May festival to raise funds to finance the campaign. The state party has offered to aid the Atlanta local in the campaign, and the local expects to make a vigorous fight for what it considers its right under the American constitution.

VETERAN TELEGRAPH OPERATOR IS DEAD

tered the race for Senator Bacon's unexpired term the political atmosphere was considerably clarified. It had been a foregone conclusion that the governor would get into this contest, but until he publicly declared that he would do so there was uncertainty in some quarters and prospective candidates for governor were restrained from becoming positive candidates.

These restrictions are removed now, and gubernatorial announcements may be expected at any time. In fact word comes from Commerce that Dr. L. G. Hardman, of that city, is preparing his announcement and will give it to the press on Tuesday. J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, president of the state senate, has let it be known that in the event the governor ran for the senate he would be a candidate for governor. C. Murphey Candler, of Decatur, chairman of the state railroad commission, is being persistently mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate, and others frequently mentioned in this connection are Judge John T. Allen, of Milledgeville; W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie; G. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus, and B. S. Miller, of Columbus.

A dispatch from Columbus says: "It is believed here that B. S. Miller will soon announce for governor. He leaves this afternoon for Atlanta to discuss the situation with friends."

Governor Slaton has not yet issued his formal announcement for the senate, but he is expected to do so during the present week.

Governor Slaton is the fourth candidate to enter the lists for Senator Bacon's unexpired term. The three others who have already announced are: Congressman W. W. Hardwick, Attorney General Thomas S. Felder and John R. Cooper, of Macon.

Ex-Gov. Brown Silent On His Political Plans

If former Governor Joseph M. Brown has any future political plans he is not making them known just now. A statement given out by him and published in the morning newspapers of the state on Monday follows:

"I cannot but feel that the various candidates for the prominent positions are showing undue haste in placing their names before the public. There are yet one hundred and thirty-five days before the date set for the primary. The facilities for placing one's views before the public are so nearly perfect that so long a time seems to me unnecessary. In 1908, when I first ran for governor, from the date I announced my candidacy till the date of the primary was only seventy-six days. It scarcely seems to me that a longer time is needed by the candidates now.

"It is going to be hard for our public men to get any large percentage of the people to commit themselves for several weeks yet. The great mass of voters will doubtless keep an open mind during the first half or more of the campaign.

"Besides, I have always made it a point to give the people credit for having a great lot of common sense and discernment which fit them for doing their own thinking on public matters."

Dr. L. G. Hardman Will Make Race for Governor

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COMMERCE, Ga., April 6.—Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., today stated definitely that he will enter the race for governor. He is preparing his platform and will furnish it to the press tomorrow.

Dr. Hardman is very prominent in legislative circles, having for several terms represented Jackson county in the state legislature, and also the Thirty-third senatorial district in the state senate, during which time he was influential in helping to pass the present prohibition law, and also some of the best laws now on the statute books.

Felder to Open His Speaking Tour April 20

Attorney General T. S. Felder, who is a candidate for the unexpired term of Senator Bacon and whose resignation as attorney general becomes effective on April 15, is expected to make his first political speech in the campaign about April 20. He has not yet decided where he will fire his opening gun, but it is understood that he is considering his old home town of Perry, Houston county.

Mr. Felder is in Washington Monday looking after the state's litigation in the United States supreme court. On Tuesday that court will decide whether to pass a decree in the injunction suit of the state of Georgia versus the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company.

With this case settled Attorney General Felder will have disposed of all the state's business now pending in the United States supreme court, and on April 15 he will leave the office of attorney general with a practically clean slate for his successor, Warren Grice, of Hawkinsville.

C. W. Emory Draws Out Of Troup Sheriff's Race

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 6.—C. W. Emory has withdrawn from the race of sheriff of Troup county, according to a card, which was published in the LaGrange Reporter of yesterday.

It is understood that Mr. Emory withdrew at the request of his friends on account of the entrance of C. B. Johnson in the race a short time ago. Emory and Johnson have practically the same constituents and predictions of friends of both these men were that the former's entry would make the chances to beat O. H. Florence less favorable. ANALYTICAL RESULTS BRIGHTS DISEASE

Patient—Dennis Beale, Pierson, Manitoba, Canada.

Physician—Dr. Shier, Pierson, Manitoba.

Case—Diagnosed by Dr. Shier as "Chronic Bright's Disease."

There was the usual albumen and necrosis in evidence, knee stiff and foot inverted. Recovery considered impossible.

Fulton's Renal Compound was taken into the case in March, 1912. Patient improved and removed to Perry, Ia., where the treatment was continued. After taking two dozen, he writes:

"I had the doctor make an examination. He reported no albumen. You may rest assured I felt good. I am now healthy, eat and sleep well and am gaining in strength. Of course my stiff, useless leg bothers me and prevents my getting around. . . ."

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's Disease is not a matter of opinion, but a FACT IN PHYSICS and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage of albumen from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. MAN BELIEVED A VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY IS DEAD

Ed Clower, Who Was Found Unconscious in Alley, Succumbed in Grady Hospital

Found unconscious on Marietta street, in front of the American Can company, with a deep cut on the left side of his head Saturday afternoon, Ed Clower, twenty-five years old, thought by the police to be the victim of foul play, died late Sunday afternoon at the Grady hospital.

The police are investigating the case, and Detective Garner has been assigned to it. His theory is that the man was attacked, beaten into an unconscious state, and then robbed. Nothing was found in Clower's pockets; his money, papers and watch were gone.

Clower was not identified until after his death, when his brother, R. A. Clower, 406 Elm street, came to the Grady Sunday in search of the young man, fearing that he had met with some accident.

Clower was unconscious from the time he was brought to the hospital Saturday until his death Sunday.

A coroner's inquest will be held at the undertaking establishment of J. P. Bloomfield company, 34 South Pryor street, at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

CHINA'S NEW MINISTER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

K. F. Shah Is First Representative Sent to U. S. by Young Republic

WASHINGTON, April 6.—K. F. Shah, the new Chinese minister to the United States, who arrived in New York yesterday, is one of the products of the new regimei n China.

Word of his coming had been sent by Paul S. Reinsch, the American minister in Peking, who advised the Washington government that Mr. Shah left Peking with his party March 3, traveling by way of Siberia, and was planning to come here from New York to be presented to President Wilson.

Mr. Shah is the minister under the new republic of China, recently recognized by the American government.

DIFFICULTIES ARISE IN FORMING JAP CABINET

TOKIO, Japan, April 6.—Complications have arisen in formation of the new cabinet to replace that of Count Tanamoto, which resigned as a result of the navy graft scandals.

Viscount Kelze Kiyoura, endeavoring to distribute the portfolios, has encountered difficulties over the marine ministry. Demands have been formulated that the premier authorize the advance of credits for the construction of warships, relying on parliament to indorse them later. Viscount Kiyoura considers such a step unconstitutional.

Senator West Returns To Duties in Senate

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator W. S. West return to Washington last night and was present when the senate met today. "There is little that I can add to the statement I gave to the press in Atlanta Saturday night," he said. "I do not expect to be a candidate for governor. I believe I could have been elected to the senate, but I am getting to be an old man. I have enjoyed my short service in the senate, however, and will cherish always the memory of the experience.

Dodge County Forms Walter Clements Club

EASTMAN, Ga., April 6.—The announcement of Walter M. Clements, of this city, for congress from the Twelfth district has aroused unusual interest in Dodge county, as well as all over the district. His announcement appeared in all the papers of the district last week.

A large number of his Eastman and Dodge county friends met in the rooms of the Commercial club and perfected plans for the organization of a Dodge County Clements club and a central campaign committee.

A. O. Gentry was elected president of the campaign committee and Prof. J. E. Mathews was elected secretary. They will also act as officers of the Dodge County club.

Dr. Watkins, of Ellijay, Confident of Victory

Dr. E. W. Watkins, of Ellijay, one of the candidates for congress in the Ninth district, was in Atlanta Saturday to mix with the politicians who came here to be in attendance upon the state committee meeting. Dr. Watkins says he is confident of winning his race. Other candidates for congress in the Ninth district are Congressman Thomas M. Bell and John N. Holder.

MOTHER TELLS How Her Little Girl Was Restored to Health

Mrs. Chas. Schriefer, of 129 Himrod St., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "My little girl was frail, sickly and all run down after having had the grippe. I was advised to give her Vinol and after the first bottle noticed an improvement. She has taken four bottles and has picked up rapidly, having gained six pounds in three weeks."

The reason Vinol builds up weak, ailing children so quickly is because it contains in a delicious combination the two most world famed tonics—i. e., the strength creating, body building elements of cod liver oil, with all the useless grease eliminated, and tonic iron for the blood added. If you have a weak, puny, ailing child, try Vinol on our offer to return your money if it fails to benefit your little one. Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Advt.)

we are persuaded and would persuade all Christians that it is incompatable with the simplest morality of the religion of Christ for a member of a Christian church to engage in the sale of intoxicanting liquors or to participate willingly in any traffic directly or indirectly that degrades the lives of men whom Christ came to uplift and save; and that it is doubly repugnant to Christian morality to do sl in disrespect and defiance of the established law of the land.

We submit to the common sense reason and conscience of every membe of the Christian church that, according to the law of Georgia, upheld and recently construed by a court of last resort, a social club with a United States license for the sale of intoxicating liquors and engaged in such sale and profiting therefrom for its support and maintenance is violating the law both in letter and in spirit, and that every member of such club shares the moral responsibility for it, whether a purchaser of the clubs, intoxicants or not.

This, we submit, is not a defensible position for Christian citizens to occupy, and we would earnestly so persuade them.

Therefore be it resolved by this conference, That, as citizens and ministers seeking properly to serve the welfare of our city and state and striving to use our influence for a high conscience in religion and morality for Christian churches, we do heartily approve the action of the First Baptist church, Atlanta, in its resolution adopted March 18, and commend it to the conscientious consideration of all the members of our churches.

ASKS VOTE BY SECTIONS.

When the resolution adopted by the conference was introduced, Dr. Wilmer asked that it be voted on in sections.

"There are parts of it," he explained, "that I may be opposed to. Suppose I vote for the whole thing and next Sunday as I'm going to, my church celebrates communion with wine. We have bought that wine. Will it have been consistent for me to have patronized the wine dealer and to have voted for all this resolution."

"For myself," added Dr. H. M. DuBose, "I buy grape juice for communion from a druggist."

"The Lord knows it isn't wrong to use wine for communion," said Dr. White.

President Declares Selection of Cities by Committee Is Wise One

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Although stating specifically that the selection of the twelve regional reserve cities had been none of his business and that he had refrained from making any suggestions, President Wilson today gave his unqualified approval to the choices announced by the the organization committee of the federal reserve board.

The president said he knew the organization committee had fairly considered the facts on which the selections were based, and he knew they acted on their study of the actual conditions of financial exchange and lending. The president added that he believed that the organization of the twelve banks would make a solid structure.

Mr. Wilson still is considering eligibles for the reserve board, but has made no selections.

Great Power Shown by Banks in This District

Practically every national bank in business in district No. 6, whose reserve city has been designated as Atlanta, has declared its intention to subscribe to the stock of he new regional bank that will be established here soon.

The subscription of the national banks in the district will be more than sufficient to make up the minimum of $4,000,000 stock which the government has fixed. But if it were insufficient, there still would be the state banks which are eligible to enter the system and many of which are certain to take stock in the federal bank.

The selection of a home for the bank in Atlanta is a matter which can be considered only by the directors, and the directors themselves cannot even be nominated until the entire subscription is complete and the stockholders are notified to go ahead with the election. Notwithstanding the remoteness of the question, however, Atlantians interested in it are speculating already as to where the bank will be quartered. The Healey building and the Empire Life building are known as two of the many available places for the bank's business. The directors may decide to lease quarters, or they may decide to build for the bank a home of its own.

Atlanta's interest in the bank has become broader steadily since announcement of her victory was made last Thursday. The location having been fixed here by the organization committee, Atlanta has retired to the ranks of southeastern cities that are to be served by the bank. Local leaders declare the only proper position is one which appreciates fully that the bank belongs to the whole district and is in no sense a local institution.

RECEPTION PLANNED FOR BULGARIAN QUEEN'S VISIT

Former and Present Subjects to Take Part in Big Celebration

NEW YORK, April 6.—Former and present subjects of the Bulgarian crown, including Armenians and Hebrews from Bulgaria, are actively interested in the projected visit of Queen Eleonora to this country and are preparing to take part in the reception accorded to her. At a meeting yesterday at the Hartley House settlement, devoted to plans for participation, a committee was named to confer with Mr. Carter, King Ferdinand's representative upon his arrival from London this week. A Bulgarian-Hebrew society, including veterans of the late war, has joined its efforts to that of the Macedonian-Bulgarian National Alliance, and of the Armenian societies, in preparing for the queen's reception. An Armenian choir of several hundred voices has begun rehearsals.

The missionary education movement has completed arrangements for from 50 to 150 women of prominence to meet the queen at a gathering at which short addresses will be made on educational, religious, social assistance and Red Cross work, to which Queen Eleonora's attention while in this country will be devoted almost exclusively.

Four Americans will be selected as superintendents of different departments of the Bulgarian Red Cross and will accompany the queen on her return voyage, it was said.

CHEMISTS OF COUNTRY MEET IN CINCINNATI

1,000 Delegates Expected to Attend Meeting of American Chemical Society

CINCINNATI, April 6.—Members of the American Chemical society arrived here today for their annual convention. It is expected there will be 1,000 delegates, composed of professors of chemistry in all the leading universities and prominent chemists in the industrial world.

A business meeting will be held in the evening, to be presided over by Theodore W. Richards, president of the society and professor of chemistry at Harvard.

To facilitate the work of the convention the delegates have been divided into groups to discuss problems and new discoveries in their respective fields. There are nine groups ranging from the organic and inorganic divisions to a practically new division, that of rubber chemistry.

This latter was made necessary by the many new uses to which rubber is being put and the numerous efforts to make it symmetrical.

NAVY LEAGUE TO HOLD CONVENTION IN FRISCO

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The navy league of the United States will hold its 3rd convention in San Francisco during March. It was announced by the directors of the league today. The particular date chosen was because of the fact that at that time the warships of practically all of the leading nations of the world will assemble in San Francisco bay.

"The Navy league believes," says a statement, issued today by the league, "that the assembling of this world fleet will be of unique importance to the cause of universal peace in that it will symbolize a coming into national navy for the enforcement of the decrees of a world supreme court of arbitral justice and the keeping of world peace."

"DRY" NAVY IS ORDERED BY SECRETARY DANIELS

Alcoholic Liquors Barred From Ships and Shore Stations After July 1

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Absolute prohibition will prevail in the United States navy after July 1 next. Secretary Daniels has made public a sweeping order, which not only will abolish the traditional "wine mess" of the officers, but will bar all alcoholic liquors from every ship and shore station of the navy.

This order, constituting one of the most notable victories ever won by prohibition forces, was issued on the recommendation of Surgeon General Braisted. It was brief and to the point:

"The use or introduction for drinking purposes of alcoholic liquors on board any naval vessel, or within any navy yard, or station, is strictly prohibited, and commanding officers will be held directly responsible for the enforcement of this order."

DANIELS AGREES.

In a statement Secretary Daniels said: "I am in hearty agreement with the views expressed by the surgeon general. There should not be on shipboard, with reference to intoxicants, one rule for officers and another and a different rule for the enlisted personnel. The saddest hour in my official life is when an officer or enlisted man must be punished for intoxication. During the past week it has been my painful duty to approve a court-martial for dismissal from the service of an officer for intoxication. He told me that he never had tasted intoxicants until he did so in the wine mess on the cruise. Others who have been disciplined for drinking to excess have made similar statements to me.

"Officers now are commissioned at the early age of twenty-two years. Has the government a right to permit this temptation, which too often destroys the highest usefulness of young officers? I think not. If there is one profession more than any other that calls for a clear head and a steady hand, it is the naval profession. Experience has shown the wisdom of having no intoxicants on our ships for the young men who enlisted.

NEED UNIFORM RULE.

"I believe experience has demonstrated that a uniform rule should prevail in the navy for all who enlist in the service, from the highest rank to the youngest enlisted man or officer who comes into the service, and that abolition of the wine mess will be justified.

Officers contend it is absurd to suppose that men ever become drunkards in the wine compartment. Others express the opinion that the order will curtail their personal liberty and prevent their affording visitors from foreign navies the wines to which they are accustomed on their own vessels.

The order was hailed with joy here today by the prohibition forces, who declare it will have a great influence in furtherance of the temperance cause.

When asked today to comment on the order, President Wilson said it was strictly a department matter. It is understood the president was not consulted by Mr. Daniels before he issued the order, and no one professes to know whether it had the president's approval.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE SOCIETY WOMAN'S DEATH

Mrs. Laura Wilder Simpson Was Found Dead With Bullet Wound in Head

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 6.—With the meeting of the grand jury here today it became known that one of its duties would be to investigate the death of Mrs. Laura Wilder Simpson, who was found dead with a bullet wound in her head at her residence here on February 23.

The coroner's jury rendered noncommittal verdict and recently, after the body of Mrs. Simpson had been exhumed for the second time, a corps of medical experts declared that while there were no powder marks on the outside of Mrs. Simpson's head, those marks were found in the interior tissues, proving, according to the physicians, that the bullet which killed her was discharged at close range.

Mrs. Simpson was formerly Laura Wilder and was prominent in Chicago society.

MANY FAVOR HIS STAND ON TOLLS, SAYS WILSON

Tells Visitors That Newspapers All Over Country Give Him Support

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—President Wilson today told visitors he considered that editorial expressions in the press and correspondence from disinterested observers all over the country revealed support of the administration's stand for the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption. The president said he did not expect the question to be a campaign issue and expressed confidence for an administration victory in the senate.

PIMPLES ECZEMA

Itching Humors, Risings, Boils. Smith's Blood Syrup Fine for These Troubles

Hard work, worry and the coming of spring weakens the blood and we have all sorts of itching humors, eczema, risings, boils, offensive pimples, swellings, blood humors—we feel tired and all played out, we have bad breath, spots flying before the eyes, hands and legs tremble and we can't stand exposure to the weather. The moment you feel as above or have aching bones or any blood humors, get a bottle of Smith's Blood and Liver Syrup from any reliable druggist. Take a spoonful in a glass of water after meals and on retiring. Also eat plenty of nourishing food. Soon your blood will become pure and rich, and your skin takes on the rich, red glow of perfect health and your body is changed into a clean, healthy condition. Aches and pains and itching stop. All sores are healed. Smith's Blood and Liver Syrup has been used for generations to purify the blood. It is made from an old Indian formula and is dispensed by most druggists in big half quart bottles for only $1, or will be sent express prepaid by John B. Daniel, 4 Wall st., Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

GOVERNMENT MAY PROBE COTTON MANIPULATIONS

Efforts Reported to Depress Price of May Options on New York Exchange

WAHINGTON, April 6.—It was reported today on good authority that a movement is on foot by the department of justice to investigate the activity of bear manipulators on the New York cotton exchange, with a view to proceeding against them in an action similar to the one instituted by the federal government against Patten, Hayne, Thompson and others several years ago. It is understood the proposed inquiry will be directed especially toward parties in Philadelphia.

In connection with the reported movement of the department of justice in this direction, it was learned today that when the Thompson-Patten-Hayne bull pool was under fire, the government contemplated an investigation into the methods of the bear operators.

It is stated the efforts of certain large operators to depress the price of May options on the New York exchange through juggling and manipulation, furnishes the immediate grounds for the reported governmental inquiry. The fact that the price of May cotton on the exchange has been fictitiously depressed to 16 a bale under the actual value of spot cotton, it is contended, indicates the presence of a conspiracy in restraint of legitimate trade.

It is understood that the New York exchange prescribed and maintained the stiffest kind of classification on March delivering, which was entirely agreeable to certain large operators who were long on this month. With the expiration of March interests, however, the same interests that are alleged to have been instrumental in and pleased with the strict classification sought to have the exchange let down the bars and certificate cotton for delivery of May contracts that had been thrown out in March.

It has been asserted that the demand for this was prompted by the fact that these same interests were short of May cotton and hoped to depress the price by delivering dog tail and unspinnable cotton to southern and Canadian manufacturers who have indicated a purpose to accept delivery on their contracts. The strength of May cotton, on the contrary, is attributed to the fact that at this period the New York cotton exchange has a better grade of cotton in stock than ever before, with a higher and more satisfactory classification.

Much of this stock, it is stated, is gulf cotton and unlike much that has been heretofore held by the exchange is spinnable. The exchange, however, has been under a misapprehension as to the character of the cotton, and wide fixed differentials have been maintained and this, it is contended, has helped to check the legitimate advance in the price of the staple which is not debased.

Southern and Canadian spinners have examined the cotton in New York and have been impressed with its satisfactory quality. This, it is understood, accounts for the fact that these spinners have been innocently responsible for preventing a further depression of the market. Their purpose to accept delivery on the cotton they have contracted for on the exchange as a hedge against the goods they have sold will, it is believed, more than exhaust the available supply of cotton in New York.

PERKINS' REINSTATEMENT IS FAVORED BY DANIELS

Recommends That Former Colonel in Marine Corps Be Restored to Rank

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The case of Colonel Constantine M. Perkins, of Rome, Ga., for reinstatement in the United States marine corps, is approaching a successful termination, thanks to the persistent and untiring efforts of Congressman William Schley Howard.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels today transmitted to the senate a communication recommending the reinstatement of Colonel Perkins with his restoration to rank. Secretary Daniels' letter constitutes the first favorable recommendation he has made to congress in a case involving a breach of discipline. The secretary holds that a great injustice was done Colonel Perkins in his retirement.

Teh Howard bill, the passage of which Secretary Daniels recommends, authorizes the president to reinstate Perkins. A petition signed by 5,000 citizens of Floyd county, favorable to Perkins, has been transmitted to the president.

BOSTON STORE ROBBED OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

BOSTON, April 6.—Three men who entered the department store of Timothy Smith & Co. in Roxbury last night, bound and gagged two watchmen and blew open the safe, escaping with several thousand dollars. The burglary was not discovered until early today, when one of the watchmen freed himself and gave the alam. The watchman told the police he opened a side door late in the evening in response to a knock. A man hit him over the head with a revolver and knocked him senseless.

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustroun, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—(Advt.)

A Notable Conference for Education in the South.

The Conference for Education in the South, which meets this week at Louisville, holds a distinctive place in public interest. It is concerned not so much with the technical as with the human aspect of school work and the relationship of education to the people's common life. It addresses itself largely to economic and social problems, matters that touch the business and health and progress of the community. Its membership includes not only teachers but civic leaders as well, physicians, scientists, churchmen, philanthropists and men in various fields of endeavor who are interested in cultivating the South's highest possibilities.

This meeting, we are told by the Courier-Journal, is to be a "conference on country life, participated in by farmers, business men, country women, preachers, doctors, editors and school workers. The conference is really to be a series of conferences. In fact Louisville has seldom if ever had the honor of entertaining a convention of such extended scope and such great possibilities for the improvement of the economic and educational conditions in the rural districts of the South. Cooperative effort is essential to rural advancement, and the conference is to lay especial stress on cooperation. This will not be done by means of long-drawn speeches and essays but by practical illustrations and demonstrations."

It is a significant and cheering fact that educational leaders are devoting more and more attention to rural life, not merely in the building and maintenance of better schools but also in the development of practical interests. The fact is, the school is no longer regarded as an end but as a means to broad progress. It made a center and rallying point for the community's best ideas and best impulses—a center of social and economic advancement. This wholesome tendency is well exemplified in the Conference for Education in the South.

Demand for Opera Seats.

The sale of seats to single performances of Metropolitan grand opera began Monday forenoon in a manner that presages a new record of opera attendance. Both the local and the out-of-town demand for tickets is extraordinary.

The fact that there are to be seven performances, each of a character that appeals to the rank and file of music lovers as well as to the most critical and cultivated, makes Atlanta's 1914 season of Metropolitan opera unusually popular. The dates of the performances, moreover, are so arranged that persons who do not wish to take in the entire week have a variety of single performances from which to select.

There is an abundance of excellent seats in every part of the Auditorium still available, and those who are prompt in making reservations can be fully satisfied.

Among other disbeliefs, Huerta does not believe in the freedom of the press.

Old John Lind will arrive home about the same time that Huerta admits defeat.

Signs of Atlanta's Growth.

For every month in the first quarter of the current year, Atlanta's postal receipts show a noteworthy increase over the corresponding month in 1913. For March, the gain was $10,827, for February $9,663, and for January $14,440, making an aggregate gain of nearly $35,000 in the three months.

This record is in keeping with other lines of the city's steady progress. Bank clearings have grown apace, and building permits for March, 1914, are considerably in excess of those for the same month last year. There is an appreciable quickening in the real estate field. Large improvements are in immediate prospect, and important enterprises are under way.

Atlanta is always moving forward, always energetic and constructive, but there is reason to believe that a period of extraordinary development is at hand.

Is Mexican Peace at Hand?

It is likely that the Constitutionalists' capture of Torreon will be followed by an interlude of comparative peace. Bleeding from its long, hard fight, Villa's army needs recoupment and rest. Huerta's forces will scarcely seek another encounter. Their movements have never been aggressive, and henceforth their sole concern must be defense. Scattered bands of rebels, notably those of Zapata in the south, will continue their occasional raids; but for some weeks to come Mexico as a whole will probably be spared from serious war.

The Constitutionalists, however, are none the less intent upon pressing their advantage at the earliest feasible day. The next object in their campaign will be Tampico, a Gulf port of great strategic value. Having possessed themselves of that point, the Constitutionalists will have free communication with the outside world and will be in a position to establish an effective, responsible government. That accomplished, they will seek recognition from the United States and other powers.

It is rumored, according to recent dispatches, that Tampico is about to surrender without further resistance. Certain it is that Villa's wonderful triumph at Torreon has exerted a profound influence throughout Mexico and has turned a tide of wavering sentiment toward the Constitutionalist cause. Should Tampico enlist in the revolution, the fall of Mexico City would almost inevitably follow.

For months, it should be noted, the Constitutionalists have held virtually undisputed control of northern Mexico, and now that they occupy Torreon, the key to the republic's center, they should have no serious difficulty in making their way to the capital. It is not improbable, indeed, that the present revolution will end without another important battle.

In just what circumstances this may come about, it is impossible to forecast. Huerta may decide to withdraw from his losing game before it is played to a desperate finish. In that event, efforts would be made to secure as provisional president some statesman acceptable to both factions, and he would direct the government until an orderly election could be held. That was the course adopted after the retirement of the elder Diaz, whom Madero's revolution drove from power.

It is in no wise certain that the Constitutionalists would accede to such a plan. Their star is now in the escendancy, and all omens point to their ultimate, if not speedy, success. They have insisted from the outset, however, that their sole purpose is to restore orderly and legal processes of government. They revolted against Huerta on the ground that he represented a bloody usurpation. Madero as they pointed out, had been duly elected president. He was foully murdered, and Huerta was the beneficiary, if not a party, to the crime. Huerta had no defensible claim to the office he holds. He was not chosen through popular suffrage. He did not win it through honorable war; and until he is eliminated, the Constitutionalists insist, there can be no approach to responsible government. It may be that they would regard Huerta's retirement just as the followers of Madero regarded Diaz' abdication, and that if a trustworthy man for provisional president were suggested, they would accept him and forego further war.

On the other hand, the Constitutionalists may follow up their recent victories until they are firmly established at Mexico and then take into their own hands the task of reconstructing the country. The fact of present significance is that Huerta's regime is practically at an end.

That is of much consequence to the United States in its Mexican policy. Our Government has taken a firm stand against recognizing Huerta. It has had no diplomatic relationships of an official character with Mexico. But such relations could be resumed, should the Constitutionalists prove themselves competent to control the country, or should a provisional government, supported by all factions, be established.

In either of these events, the United States would be in a position to make its friendly offices effective in restoring peace and order to Mexico. The administration has been criticised for its policy of waiting, and within recent weeks it has been urged to recognize Huerta's de facto government. But time is fast justifying the admisistration's course, and is proving that the President and his counselors have seen further into the Mexican situation than any ordinary observer could possibly see. The Constitutionalists are now unquestionably the controlling factors in the problem. It is they who are going to make things happen. It is through them, rather than through Huerta, that responsible government will be established.

According to the candidates, there will be a uniform success of all opponents at the Alabama polls today.

The rest of the country knew perfectly well that Atlanta would get the bank, so there are no hard feelings.

The government has abolished rum from the navy, but the deadly artillery punch will probably remain in the army.

On arrival at their newsagent's or bookstalls they found that all the copies had been reserved for regular purchasers."—Chicago Tribune.

"Mitchell Palmer---No. 2"

By Savoyard

One reason, perhaps the chief reason, why Pennsylvania has not played the great part in the national legislature taken by some states, notably Kentucky, Ohio, Massachusetts and others that could be named, is that in many parts of rural Pennsylvania they have had a custom called "rotation," fixing it so that, however capable the representative he must give way to another at the end of his first or second term and that other chosen by a junta of the dominant party of that district.

Thaddeus Stevens was a notable exception to this rule and it does not seem to have obtained in either of the big cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Kelly, Randall, O'Neil, Bingham, all had life leases on their seats in congress, all died with harness on, and to advantage. Philadelphia reached from this experience is incalculable. Payne and Dalzell so represented Pittsburg, but in the deluge the latter was engulfed and is now in private life.

• • •

In 1908 Mitchell Palmer, then thirty-six years of age, was a leader of the bar of northeast Pennsylvania, and decided to enter public life. There was but one way for him to get into politics and that to smash the tradition of scores of years—this "rotation" that had dwarfed his district to a mere stump of a constituency. He would no longer be bound by a barren ideality and a vicious practice than Sampson would be thralled by the withes, and so he broke them. He entered the contest for the Democratic nomination for congressman in the Pennsylvania district in 1908, proclaiming that the office of congressman representing that constituency was no longer the personal requisite of some bosses who, for so long, had regulated the "rotation." Nay, he was guilty of the enormity of proclaiming from the stump that he would not be satisfied with, or put up with, a single term: His platform in a word was, "rotation is rot." The politicians and the organization fought him tooth and nail, but the people knew him, trusted him, accepted him, and they gave him a majority in every county of the district.

If you have read Sir Walter Scott's "Legend of Montrose" you will recall how Angus McAulay picked out the great captain of the loyalists from a throng. Trust the people to do that. They made Mitchell Palmer congressman, and they made Woodrow Wilson president. Now guided by my poor observation I do not believe that intellectually Palmer has his master in the national house of representatives; but there is a heap more than mind to Palmer—greater and better than mind—character. He is not a rose water man. He does not glide. He is not much of handshaker; but he is terribly in earnest and he has the stamina of Andy Jackson himself.

• • •

Well, this young fellow got to congress. Cannon was speaker and Palmer got the tail-end of two committees that never organized. But you could not hide this man in a body like the American congress. He had measured legal skill with John G. Johnson, the head of the American bar, and held his own, and now he was to measure himself in forensic debate with the veterans of many such conflicts, and before the first of the three sessions of the Sixty-first congress expired Palmer was in the front rank of the foremost men of the body.

• • •

Do you know that the best judge of men in our country is the American congress? Do you know it hates and will not tolerate a dunce? When a new member gets up the house gives attention. In five minutes it passes judgment on the fellow and in that behalf congress never yet has made a mistake. It is instinct and it is almost uncanny the way congress can tell the weight of the new member.

Palmer owed much to his personal presence, his stalwart, athletic, graceful form and his strong, aggressive and handsome countenance; but these would not have served to place him as a leader. Felix Grundy hearing of Joe Holt's speech in the Baltimore Democratic convention of 1844—and perhaps as a specimen of "convention eloquence" it was never excelled in the annals of American oratory, not by Ingersoll, or Conkling, or Garfield, or Bryan himself—Grundy asked, "Did he make the daubin' stick?" Precisely—did he say something that a hearer would think about and talk about?

• • •

We are not left to speculation about this, for subcongressman that he was, having gone home and cast "rotation" into the garbage can, he came back, and his party, now in power at that end of the capitol, put him on ways and means, the very aristocracy of American statecraft.

It is not necessary for me to talk about certain "popgun" bills—the chief of which was over the protest of Mitchell Palmer—that Sixty-second congress, when the game was not tariff-making, but president-making. There was some mighty peanut politics in it, exemplified, but Palmer had no hand in it. I do believe his motto was, "He serves his party best who serves his country best."

• • •

And then came the Baltimore convention. Mitchell Palmer was the ablest captain of the Wilson forces in that battle royal and he was one man who never gave in, never doubted. It is tradition that he suppressed and tore up a telegraphic dispatch, that, had he acted on it, would have changed the result and it was said to have come from Wilson himself suggesting the withdrawal of his name. If that is true it only shows what a major general Andy Jackson-of-a-man is Mitchell Palmer. "I take the responsibility!" is his motto, and none other is fit for public place.

• • •

As I now recollect but two Democrats have been elected United States senators from Pennsylvania since Abraham Lincoln was first chosen president. In 1862 there was a revolt against the administration of Lincoln owing to the successful Confederate victories in the field. Years later W. A. Wallace, a Democrat, was senator from Pennsylvania, his term expiring in 1881. Since then Cameron, Quay, Penrose have been Pennsylvania in the senate.

• • •

Isn't it about time for a change? If so, why should not the old Quaker commonwealth take her stalwart young son, Mitchell Palmer, and start a new regime in the United States senate so far as the old commonwealth is concerned.

For mind and character Pennsylvania has not had his match in that body in half a century.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

Feminising Industry.

Women are venturing from the shelter of the home into industrial pursuits in ever increasing numbers. According to government statistics, they are being drawn into the wage earning ranks in growing percentages before the marrying age. Three-fifths, or 55 per cent, of all the women between sixteen and twenty-one in the United States are engaged in gainful occupations. Of this number, 770,000 are in agricultural and related pursuits. There are 481,000 women employed in the various callings, 327,000 are teachers, 239,000 are stenographers, 7,300 are physicians, 7,400 are preachers, and 1010 are lawyers.

For almost every sort of job with possible exceptions of boiler making, structural iron working, the army, the navy and ditch digging, women are applicants as well as men. The relation of the woman movement to marriage, the home, her own future destiny and the future of the state are questions now subject to continual and resultless debate. Recently, the following statistics upon spinsterhood were fathered and published with a view toward illustrating one phase of feminism:

It was stated that there are 750,000 women in New York City under thirty-five years of age, and most of them under thirty, who are not married, and, according to all appearances, who do not intend to get married. In Boston the figures of spinsters given were 451 out of every 1,000 women between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five. Similar percentages were given for a number of other cities. The feminising of industry was the moral drawn, in retiring the vocation of wifehood.

Keeping House on $15 a Week

By E. K. WOOLEY.

(Copyright, 1914, by E. K. Wooley.)

Every little while some woman writes a letter to a newspaper telling how comfortable she and her husband and maybe two or three children can get along on a salary of $15 a week—or less," writes a woman reader of this department. "Now, I am always willing to learn of new and economical ways of doing things, and if they are better than my experience has taught me, I adopt them. But these letters do a lot of harm in one way: Our husbands read them, then accuse us of extravagance.

"Well, I can just say this: That most of those husbands who think their wives could do better, wouldn't live the way those people live who can have enough and be happy on $15 a week.

"I have a family of four. They are all hearty eaters. My husband wants meat three times a day, and he doesn't want it in disguised form, such as croquettes, beef loaf, or anything of that sort. It costs me $10 a week to supply my table and keep by family's stomachs satisfied. This means that I save in every way, always buy cash and weigh everything that comes into the house. I watch the different stores for bargains and even lug home things from the market which are really too heavy to carry to save a few cents.

"We have fresh fruits and fresh vegetables, but I buy only what is in season. Also, I can a great deal during the summer. I do all my own baking and housework. I buy a few clothes ready made, but do as much sewing myself as I can find time to do. We don't have many doctor bills, as I watch the health of my family so carefully that they don't often get sick. I haven't been inside a theater since I don't know when. Once a week the two children go to the 'movies.' My husband must look well to keep his position, but I am always a little behind the fashions, because I must dress the children well enough so they won't be slighted in school, and, you know, mother comes last in all the family reckoning.

"We live in a very modest neighborhood in a two-family house; rent $20 per month and furnish our own heat.

"Now will you tell me where I can save and still live decently?"

No; I don't see where she could save and live "decently."

Nowadays money is required if one must live at all—unless one is willing to belong to the only leisure class in America and be a hobo.

I have heard complaints from other women whose husbands took pains to scan newspaper and magazine articles by "cooking experts," "household efficiency experts," and letters by women who claim to be doing marvels on almost nothing a week. Almost every man will grasp such printed matter as absolutely authentic and use it as an argument for money economy in his household.

Men are great on economy—in the household. They never can see why a housewife needs to spend money. She ought to be able to supply plenty of palatable food and all the comforts by some mysterious process which a man doesn't stand to understand—just as a new mother has always been supposed to know exactly how to treat her first baby, though she knows absolutely nothing about the care of babies.

There are many people who, alas, must live somehow on less than $15 a week—and that not a certain income. They do the best they can and try to be happy. But I want to tell you that the best way to cure the average modern husband of absolute belief in the possibility of living well and happily on $15 a week or less is to actually adopt that manner of living for a time. He will soon howl for a change.

Quips and Quiddities

As Tige, the dog who belonged to the Spink household, was finally detached from the trousers leg of the new iceman by Mr. Spink's vigorous efforts, the victim of the onslaught began to express his mind with unlimited freedom.

"That is a fine pup of a dog to have running around loose! I—" But Mr. Spink broke in before he had time further to relieve his feelings.

"He's only playful, that's all," insisted the master of the dog, at the same time pressing something into the iceman's hand.

The man glanced at the wad of green, and then as he inclosed it safely in the inner pocket his expression softened remarkably.

"I guess I can take a little fun as well as the next feller," he said, dryly. "But till you explained it I had a notion that the dog was in earnest when he bit that piece out o' my pants."—Lippincott's.

A certain congressman had a disastrous experience in gold mine speculations. One day a number of his colleagues were discussing the subject of speculation when one of them said to this western member:

"Col. Chap, as an expert, give us a definition of the term 'bonanza.'"

"Got watah in mah ear," announced the boy.

"Oh-ho," laughed the drummer, "I know just how that is. I often have felt like that after being in swimming."

A Jarvey was driving with an English visitor on a bitterly cold day in December through the wilds of Connemara. They became quite sociable on the way, and the native, in a burst of confidence, pointed out a shebeen where the "best potheen in Connaught" might be obtained. The Englishman, only too glad to get an opportunity of warming himself, offered refreshment, which offer was readily accepted. "'Tis a very cold day in these parts, Pat," observed the tourist. "'Tis, yer honor," replied Pat. He raised his glass, and the contents speedily vanished. "And there's truth in the old sayin'," he suggestively added, smacking his lips, "wan swallow niver made a summer."

THE FEDERAL CITY

II.—GEORGE WASHINGTON, PROMOTER.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

George Washington was a military genius and a great executive and, by virtue of the qualities which made him both of these, he was a splendid business man. Foresight, breadth of view and methodical habits qualified him to be a prince of merchants, or a captain of industry, if his lot had been cast in another time. The classic saying that George Washington never "slopped over" is nowhere better proved than in the conduct of his private affairs. He remained unmoved by the feverish speculation which attended the first months of the foundation of the Federal City and there is no warrant for the suggestion that he participated in it. He purchased some lots after he had retired from the presidency, but his purchases indicate his purpose as use and not as speculation. He bought one square of land in the western portion, and certain water lots intended as the location of wharves. He thus made selections which would be useful whatever the course of development of the city might be, but he incurred no obligations which might be embarassing if, as afterwards proved, the anticipations of a rapid growth should not be realized.

Washington was a promoter in the admirable sense of the word, and the location of the Federal City on the Potomac was an incident of a big idea, one which was entirely logical and which was only defeated by considerations which could not have entered into Washington's calculations.

• • •

In early life he had made surveying expeditions in the interior and had been engaged in military expeditions against the French forts on the Ohio, which made him thoroughly conversant with a trade route to the great interior waterways of the United States by way of the Potomac river. His brother, Lawrence Washington, was one of the leading men in a company formed to develop trade over this route.

• • •

During his service as commanding general and as president, Washington had opportunities to compare this entrance to the interior with others in Pennsylvania and New York and it was his life-long opinion that western trade would be chiefly done on the Potomac river. This river is navigable for vessels of shallow draft nearly to the Cumberland mountains, and after a short land portage through the mountains, water connection can be made by way of the Youghiogheny river with the great interior waterways.

Contrasting this almost continuous water route with the long overland journey from the Hudson river and the great lakes, there was no flaw discernible in Washington's day in the deduction that the western trade must ultimately proceed for a large part by way of the Potomac river. This was announced in by all of the prominent men of Virginia, and Thomas Jefferson sets it forth at considerable length in his study of the resources and possibilities of his state. It was the logic of this presentation that made it possible for the Virginia delegation finally to secure the selection of a site for the Federal City on the Potomac.

Discretion was given to President Washington to select a location within the first eighty miles above tidewater on the Potomac. This discretionary power, however, was probably merely to furnish Washington with influence over the landholders near Georgetown, as this was the only place where there was sufficient depth of water to accommodate the ocean traffic which Washington expected would be established as a result of western trade. The point where the Anacostia river, or Eastern Branch, joins the Potomac and where the city of Washington was located was described in 1791 as having the best harbor on the Atlantic coast.

• • •

President Washington did not give out at once that he had fixed on the location at the mouth of the Eastern Branch as the site of the federal city, but indicated that he had under consideration several sites and that the advantages which would accrue from the location would be enjoyed by landholders who exhibited a liberal spirit towards the federal government. Benjamin Stoddert, afterwards secretary of the navy, was a resident of Georgetown, and he was assigned the office of sounding the nineteen original proprietors of tracts of land on which it was proposed to build the city to ascertain what they would be disposed to do towards assisting the enterprise. It appears by letters still existing that the general outlines of the plan to be followed were talked over with two or three of the principal proprietors.

Then resident Washington attended a meeting of all the proprietors in Georgetown in March, 1791, at which the whole subject was opened and the proposition made that the proprietors should place their land in the hands of trustees to be held until a plan of the city had been approved by the president, when the streets should be conveyed by the trustees to the United States in fee simple; the locations for public buildings and other reservations should be purchased by the United States at $25 per acre (about $125), which was calculated to be about double the value of the land as it then existed, and one-half of the residue to be in the form of building squares should be reconveyed to the proprietors, the balance to be conveyed to the United States to be sold to raise money to pay for building the capitol, White House and other executive buildings.

It was not an easy task to bring all the proprietors into the agreement. The northern line of the city contained an angle not made necessary by the contour of the land, but resulting from Washington's desire to oblige Benjamin Stoddert and to save a noted spring which was on Stoddert's estate by excluding it from the lots and squares of the city. This favor to Stoddert as well as supposed favors to others of the more prominent proprietors was the cause of some dissension, and there is an anecdote on as good authority as many other historical anecdotes that David Burns, the crabbed old Scotchman who owned the land on which the monument to Washington now stands assumed an aggressive attitude toward the president. It is said that the president asked him if he knew whom he was talking to, and the alleged rejoinder of Burns was an inquiry as to what Washington would have amounted to if he had not married the Widow Curtis and profited by her wealth in land and slaves. There seems to be no substantiation for the anecdote except local tradition, and while Burnes was undoubtedly tenacious of his rights he seems to have exhibited no greater intractability than others of the small proprietors. Ultimately an agreement was reached at the meeting of the proprietors and this was afterwards formulated into deeds in trust executed by all of the original proprietors and recorded on the first of the land records of the District of Columbia.

The establishment of a commercial city seemed then a necessary incident to the growth and perpetuation of the federal capital, but the present resources of the federal government were meager and the volume of federal business was so small that it would provide few permanent inhabitants. In promoting the location of the federal capital on the Potomac as a great trade route, Washington believed that he was taking the only means to insure the successful establishment of the Federal City. His plans for his own fortunes were far greater and broader than the incident of the establishment of a city. He looked beyond the smaller proposition to the great task of connecting the Atlantic sea coast with the west by the most practicable route. He had acquired large tracts of land west of the mountains, among other properties a beautiful plain in Pennsylvania on which he had built Fort Necessity during his expeditions against the French.

• • •

To make this land of value he entered on the task of improving the waterways. The first step was the promotion of a canal around the Great Falls of the Potomac. His letters covering many years contain references to the best methods of canal construction, inquiries for canal engineers and the discussion of locks, mechanism and other means for securing passage of boats from one level to another. The canal was put in operation and plans were made for the slack water navigation on the shallower parts of the proposed water route. The same proposition is now under investigation by government engineers and is to secure slack water navigation of the Potomac river to substantially the point where Washington proposed to connect the waters running eastward with the western waterways.

RATHER HAVE A PARK THAN A FIRE ENGINE

Seventh Ward Councilmanic Delegation Propose to Transfer Funds in Finance Sheet

A resolution will be introduced in council Monday afternoon to transfer an appropriation of $9,000 from the fire department account, put there to buy an automobile fire appartus for the Seventh Ward to the park department account for the purpose of buying a portion of the Mosley property in Battle Hill for use as a city park.

When the finance committee of council was making up the 1914 apportionment sheet in January the citizens of the Seventh ward appeared before the committee and urged an appropriation sufficient to buy the whole Mosley property and an appropriation to build and equip a fire station in the Battle Hill section of the ward.

The finance committee was unable to find the money to but the Mosley property which would cost around $35,000, and was unable to find the money both for building and equipping a fire station. It did find, however, the sum of $9,000, which is sufficient to buy an automobile fire apparatus, and on the recommendation of Fire Chief Cummings put this amount in the sheet to buy such an aparatus, which the chief said he could locate at the present Seventh ward station and serve Battle Hill fairly well, as an automobile apparatus travels much faster than horse-drawn apparatus.

When the city recently purchased an automobile fire apparatus for the new Eighth ward station it did not ask for bids for an apparatus for the Seventh ward, and it new develops that there was a reason for the omission, the reason being that the three members of the Seventh ward delegation in council have decided they would rather buy a 9,000 slice of the Mosley property and take an option on the balance than to have an auto fire apparatus for the ward.

Whether council will sanction the transfer is doubtful, inasmuch as several council members contend that the Battle Hill section of the Seventh ward needs fire protection worse than it needs a park, and will accordingly oppose the transfer.

PILGRIM CLASS TO GIVE BIG MINSTREL SHOW

A pretentious minstrel show will be given by the Pilgrim class of the Central Congregational church on the evening of Friday, April 17, in the assembly room of the church, corner Luckie and Carnegie way.

The Pilgrim class is one of the largest young men's Bible classes in the city, with a membership of over fifty. Thirty or forty of the members will participate in the performance. They have been working hard on it for weeks.

A feature of the program will be numbers by the Georgia Tech orchestra and the Tech Mandolin club.

MRS. O'KEEFE'S WILL IS PROBATED MONDAY

Estate of $30,000 to Be Divided Among Her Daughters and Their Children

The will of the late Mrs. Sarah F. O'Keefe, dividing an estate of an estimated value of $30,000 among her three daughters and their children, was probated in the office of Ordinary John R. Wilkinson by Attorney E. V. Carter Monday morning.

Mrs. Lelia O'Keefe Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson and Mrs. Maude O'Keefe Powers, daughters, are named administrators, and to them in equal shares is left the residue of the estate.

Special bequests are made to the following grandchildren: To Edith and Antionette Kirkpatrick each a one-half interest in a lot 175 feet on Habersham road and $1,000 each in cash; to Mamie Branch Powers, $2,500, and to Wallace M. Kirkpatrick, Jr., and Horace Jenkins Powers, $1,000 each.

Mrs. O'Keefe's will was made and signed on August 2, 1913.

TO INSTALL DANCE HALL LUNCH ROOM AND CAFE

Building at Forsyth and James Streets to Undergo Alterations

The three-story building at the corner of Forsyth and James street, has been leased by J. H. Folk, "the cafeteria man," and will be turned into a combination cafe, lunch room and dance hall, with a bake shop annex.

The basement of the building will be used for stores, the first floor for a lunch room, the second floor for a cafe where dancing will be permitted nightly, the third floor will be the bake shop.

Work has already been started on remodeling the building and it is expected that it will be ready for its formal opening by the time the Shrine convention meets in May.

From a small beginning, Mr. Falk has made rapid strides in the restaurant business in Atlanta. Besides his new place he has three others in Atlanta, at 142 and 170 Peachtree street and on Washington street, all of which will continue operation after the new place is opened.

GOOD ROADS EDITION WILL BE PUBLISHED

The publishers of the Manufacturers Record have announced that when the American Good Roads congress meets in Atlanta next November, a special good roads edition of the Record will be issued, which, to quote from the announcement, "will direct the attention of the world to the great work that is being done in the south for good roads and which it is hoped will make the occasion of this meeting a distinct event in the growth of the south and of the good roads work of the nation."

FARMERS PROTEST CITY ORDINANCE OF ATLANTA

Randolph County Chamber of Commerce Wants Slaughter House Law Amended

A provision in the city of Atlanta's slaughter house ordinance requiring shipments of hogs and cattle into Atlanta in carload lots or larger has been protested by the chamber of commerce of Randolph county, Ga., and the protest has been taken up by Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia chamber of commerce.

Mayor Woodward received Mr. Haden's letter Monday morning and immediately addressed a communication to council requesting that body to look into the matter and take the necessary steps to relieve the discrimination against Georgia hog and cattle raisers.

"The city ordinances of Atlanta are full of jokers," remarked Mayor Woodward to the newspaper men Monday, "and this provision in regard to hogs and cattle si a fair sample.

"Here we are urging our farmers in Georgia to raise hogs and cattle, while Atlanta, the largest market in the state, passes an ordinance which prohibits them shipping their products here except in carload lots. Such an ordinance cannot benefit anybody except the packing house and slaughter houses, as I see it."

G. F. Moody, president of the Randolph county chamber of commerce, in his letter of protest, says among other things:

"There are men in this county who have a few hogs and cows that they could butcher and express the meat to Atlanta, but they cannot get up a carload of live stock. The manufacturers and merchants of Atlanta bid for the business of Georgia farmers and I think it unfair for Atlanta to legislate against any product that the farmers of Georgia may have to sell."

RAILROADS PRESENT SCORE BOOK TO LOCAL GOLFERS

A. P. Mathews, D. P. A., Distributes Handsome Gifts for His Two Line

The St. Louis and San Francisco and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroads, through A. P. Mathews, district passenger agent, are sending out attractive score books to the enthusiastic golfers who belong to the Capital City Country club and the Atlanta Athletic club.

The book, which is bound in black leather with the owners name and that of his club on the back in gilt letters, contains a large number of score leaves. It is, small and quite convenient, and the golfers are delighted with the gift.

STREET CAR SCREENS FOR RACES PROPOSED

Eb T. Williams Draws Ordinance Which He Will Request to Be Introduced

An ordinance providing for the use of screens in street cars to separate the white and colored races has been drawn by Eb T. Williams, the Atlanta lawyer, and he will undertake to get it introduced Monday afternoon in the general council.

It is similar to the ordinance in force in New Orleans, Birmingham and other cities, and provides for a small screen about three inches high to be used on the backs of the seats in trolley cars. White persons who sit behind the screen are subject to a fine of $25, while colored people who sit in front of the screen are subject to the same fine. The screen is made so that the conductor can move it back and forward, according to the proportion of the white and colored passengers on his car.

Mr. Williams declares the ordinance works well in New Orleans, being in the interest of a harmonious arrangement for both races, and he hopes to see it enacted by the general council of Atlanta.

YOUNG WHITE MAN HELD FOR SHOOTING AN OFFICER

A young white man, who gives the name of William Clett, and says he lives in Cincinnati, was arrested Sunday night on the charge of shooting Officer W. K. Garrett through the left arm at the corner of Decatur and Courtland streets.

Garrett saw a white boy and a negro standing in a doorway about 11 o'clock. The negro had a whisky bottle in his hand. When Garrett approached and seized the white boy, the latter shot him through the arm.

Garrett held to him despite his wound and with the aid of a brother officer took him to the station house.

PASTOR GIVES INTERESTING SERMON IN TABERNACLE

"Too many people in Atlanta are trying to wear the livery of heaven and engage in the work of the devil," declared Rev. A. C. Shuler, pastor of the East Side Tabernacle, in his sermon Sunday night.

"The man who openly professes Christianity and at the same time is willing to prosper in a business that is carried on at the expense of human souls and helpless lives, whose influence is thrown against the church, whose sympathies and interests are removed from the weak and helpless, is the biggest hypocrite in town, and the devil's got him from head to foot."

Anybody Lost an Auto?

An abandoned Overland automobile bearing the number 3604 was found by the police at daybreak Monday at the corner of Spring and Sixth streets. An investigation is being made.

SATURDAY, APRIL 25, IS EGG HUNT DATE

Contract Awarded for 250,000 Eggs for Great Children's Event in Grant Park

Saturday, April 25, is the date that has been selected for the Easter egg hunt for the children of Atlanta. It will be in Grant Park as usual, and will be given as usual by The Journal and the city park board. The hour will be 3 o'clock.

A contract has been awarded for 250,000 eggs, which is more than were ever bought for a previous hunt. The number has to be increased each year because the number of children increases. A quarter of a million eggs certainly should be enough to supply this year's crowd, and there will be no children disappointed. There probably will be 30,000 at the hunt, which will allow an average of eight eggs to each child.

Mr. J. M. Hollowell, who has made the grand prize golden egg for several years in succession, will make it again this year and will put inside of it a $5 gold pece.

There will be the usual long list of prizes donated by the merchants of the city, and these will probably range all the way from a neck tie to a porch swing.

The committee in charge of the hunt will announce other details in a few days. This committee consists of the following: L. C. Green, James E. Belcher and Charles I. Branan, of the city park board; W. C. Puckett, who has been on the hunt committee for years, and a representative of The Journal.

MOTHER OF RECTOR IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Susan Memminger continues critically ill at St. Joseph's Infirmary. Physicians announced Monday morning that she was doing as well as could be expected since she was taken there several days ago.

Mrs. Memminger is the mother of Rev. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints church. She has been living with Mrs. William Straughn in the Byron apartments since she came to Atlanta last October until her illness of last week.

Mrs. Memminger is 71 years of age. She is the widow of the late Rev. R. W. Memminger, of Charleston, whose father, Christopher G. Memminger, was secretary and treasurer of the confederacy.

EMORY ELECTIONS SET FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 11

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EMORY COLLEGE, Oxford, Ga., April 6.—The annual election among the students of Emory college who are organized into a student governing association, will be held Saturday afternoon, April 11. The officials of the association and the editors and managers of the college publications will be selected. There are candidates for each position and the election gives signs of being spirited.

Only Five Days More Until Easter!

But the Suit, the Dress, the Hat, May Be Selected Here In a Very Few Minutes

The whole world makes ready for Easter! It is the one time of the year when everyone wears something new. It is the spirit of the season, the common thought of the universe.

But there remain but five days in which to make ready for the occasion!

No time to be wasted---much must be done.

It should be a matter of satisfaction to the women of Atlanta and vicinity that they have such a store as this to turn to in the Easter emergency. Stocks are at their best, everyone is on the tip toe of eagerness to serve!

The Suit It is a beautiful thing this season---as you may see. We are speaking particularly of the suits that have come in within the last week, suits that reflect the latest and the smartest fashions evolved in Paris and New York. Silks hold a prominent place---moires, crepes radium, taffetas, combinations of poplin and taffeta. The taffeta is used for the ruffles and big butterfly bows. They are distinctive, marked with individuality; suits women will want, styles that lend finality and satisfaction to one's choice, suits for the Easter parade.

The Dress The woman who elects a silk dress for Easter morn will have a happy choice among the dresses lately arrived. These emphasize the new note in dresses---the lacy and frilly combinations. French chiffon taffetas, pussy willow taffetas and crepes made with bodices of delicate shadow laces in styles that only Paris could think out, the laces even show in the skirts---but telling of these points falls far short of painting the lily. We want you to see with your own eyes the rare charm of the new dresses!

The Hat Estelle Mershon, 20 E. 46 St., whose hats Vogue selected as criterions of Spring fashions, has sent us her latest successes. They arrived by this morning's express, these together with hats from our own workrooms mean that the Easter bonnet may be the joy of a woman's heart.

Tell you what they are? Never!

Charming, chic, novel, dainty---yes, but how they are so remains for your visit to the millinery section to disclose!

The Lenten services at All Saints' church are fast drawing to a close and the brightness of Easter is heralded by buds and blossoms in Atlanta's parks and gardens.

It was a particularly happy day at All Saints', the choir consisting of twenty-eight women and twelve men, under the able leadership of William Arnaud, rendered the music in beautiful harmony, the "Palms" being especially appropriate to the day. At the afternon service Rev. W. W. Memminger presented a class for confirmation, consisting of sixty-six persons, which Bishop Nelson said made every one feel very happy. Among the number there were several families, father, mother and children coming together to receive the laying on of hands by the bishop. There were young and old, men and women, whose earnest faces showed that they were ready to fight a good fight against "sin, the flesh and the devil," and we do not doubt that they will be useful members of the parish.

BASKETBALL AT SEMINARY

An interesting game of basketball was played Saturday between the Gainesville High school girls and those of the Washington seminary on the court of the seminary.

The game resulted in favor of the seminary. The place of Miss Ruth Belk, who received injuries in a recent game, was taken by Miss Mildred Mather.

Entrants at Pony Show

Saturday afternoon Piedmont Park will present a gala appearance with the Gymkhana and pony show to be given for the benefit of the Home for Incurables.

A band will render a bright musical program, and the pony show will attract a large number of grown ups as well as children who are keenly interested in plans for the miniature horse show.

The members of the executive committee who are in charge of the affair are Mrs. Floyd McRae, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Thomas B. Felder, Mrs. James T. Williams, Mrs. James L. Dickey, Jr., Mrs. Frank Holland, Miss May Atkinson, Mr. Willard McBurney, Mr. Samuel Slicer, Mr. Westervelt Terhune and Mr. Nym Mcculllough.

Among those who have signified their intention of entering ponies are James Floyd, Jr., Rebecca Harman, Comer Howell, Palmer Dallas, Frances McKenzie, Baxter Maddox, Morris Brandon, Charles Black, Jr., Josephine Wendell, Florence Wendell, Preston Arkwright, T. H. McRae, Wilmer Moore, Jr., John S. Cohen, Jr., Rankin Manley, Perry Adair, Katherine Dickey, John K. Ottley, Jr., James Calhoun, Harry Ansley, Hugh Inman, Rhodes Perdue, Frank Inman, Jr., Troy Bivings, Charles Bratton, Jr., John Grant, Jr., Miss May Atkinson and Miss Mary Algood Jones.

To Mrs. Strickland

Miss Emma Wallace will entertain at a matinee party Tuesday afternoon at the Forsyth theater in honor of Mrs. Sefton Strickland, whose marriage was an event of the past week.

The invited guests are Mrs. Strickland, Miss Dorothy Chambers, Miss Edith Martin, Miss Virginia Withers, Mrs. A. L. Cates and Mrs. J. C. Landers.

GEORGIA WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE LEAGUE.

The Georgia Woman's Suffrage league will hold its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Carnegie library.

Mrs. Frances S. Whitcside, president, will preside, and an interesting program has been arranged.

FORCED TO EAT CRUSHED ICE

And Was Not Even Allowed Privilege of Sitting Up, but Finally Wins Out

Kaplan, La.--Mrs. Casamear Burkhart, of this town, gives out the following for publication: "I feel that I owe my life to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I was married last April, and was in fairly good health. Shortly after marriage my health began to fail, and for three long months I was threatened with serious sickness.

I passed most of my time in bed, with a nurse at my bedside. At last, I was told an operation was necessary. I was so weak I could retain nothing on my stomach but crushed ice, and was not even allowed to sit up in bed.

A friend of mine advised me to use Cardui, the woman's tonic, and they got a bottle for me, as a last resort.

After taking Cardui for one week, I was able to be up in my room. After continual use for two months, I was in perfect health, and could do all of my work without tiring.

I take an occasional dose of Cardui and Black-Draught now, to keep my system in good condition.

Several of my friends are using Cardui with good results. I am never without it in the house."

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Whatever possessed Unc' Billy Possum to go wandering off way, way into the deepest part of the Green Forest, he did not know himself. He just went, that was all. Perhaps it was something in the air that made him. It seemed as if everybody was doing a great deal of wandering about these beautiful early spring days. It's a way the little meadow and forest people have in the glad springtime. So you will meet them in the most unexpected places very busy doing nothing at all but looking around.

So Unc' Billy Possum wandered along poking over sticks and piles of leaves, peering with his shrewd, sharp little eyes into every hollow log and stump, and watching for signs of nest builders, for you know Unc' Billy has a weakness for fresh eggs. He just can't pass a fresh egg no matter who it belongs to. He always excuses himself on the ground that whoever laid it can lay another and so no harm is done, which, of course, is no excuse at all. But Unc' Billy seems to think it is and whenever he goes out to walk in the spring he has his eyes open for new homes of his feathered neighbors.

This particular morning he had come as far as the pond of Paddy the Beaver before he stopped to rest. There he sat down on Paddy's dam to pass the time of day with Paddy, who was swimming about in his pond just as if he hadn't anything else in particular to do.

"How did yo' pass the winter, Brer Beaver?" asked Unc' Billy.

"Very comfortably, thank you, Unc' Billy," replied Paddy politely. "I had plenty to eat, a comfortable bed, and plenty of time to sleep. What more could I ask?"

Unc' Billy grinned. "You could have asked fo' warmer weather," said he. "Ah, done tho't Ah was going to freeze to death. Ah, done wish a good many times that Ah was way down souf in Ol' Virginny. Ah don' like such a long, cold winter."

"Did you call that a long winter and a hard winter?" exclaimed Paddy. "Pooh! You ought to spend a winter up where I came from. I don't believe that Mistress Spring has reached there yet."

"Then, Ah don' want to be any nearer to it than I am this very minute," declared Unc' Billy. "By the way, Brer Beaver, have yo' seen any strangers up this way?" Brer Jay and Brer Crow doing go crazy in their hairs. Ah guess, for all they can talk about is a big black stranger who stands on two legs and walks on four legs and is as big as Farmer Brown's boy. They say they saw him somewhere up around here. Have yo'—"

Unc' Billy didn't finish what he had started to ask. He didn't finish because the snapping of a stick behind him made him turn his head. There stood the stranger in black, as big as Farmer Brown's boy, standing on two legs and with the awfullest big claws Unc' Billy ever had seen! It was all just as Sammy Jay had said. Unc' Billy gave a frightened little gasp and shut his eyes tight for just a wee little minute, hoping that when he opened them again he would find that he was mistaken and that there was no great black stranger there after all. But when Unc' Billy opened his eyes he found that they had not been playing him tricks. The stranger was there. Worse still, he was coming straight over toward Unc' Billy grinning in the most friendly way.

But Unc' Billy didn't notice that the grin was a friendly grin. All he noticed were the great big teeth that showed. He took just one look, and then he started across Paddy's dam as fast as he could, which wasn't very fast because he was afraid of falling in. He didn't once look behind, and as he scrambled along he kept saying over and over:

"Ah wish Ah done stay at home! Ah wish Ah done stay at home!"

Clean Grady Monument, Mayor Urges Council In a Special Message

Mayor Woodward has addressed a special communication to the general council, which will be read Monday afternoon, urging that steps be taken to clean the Grady monument, which stands in the middle of Marrietta St., opposite the main entrance to the city hall.

"The city government has joined in the movement urging the people to clean up and paint up for the forthcoming Shrine convention," says the mayor in his communication, "and I think the city might as well do a little cleaning up of its own."

"The Grady monument, as everyone knows who has looked at it, is "as black as the pot."

OUR ASTROLOGER

HOROSCOPE FOR TUESDAY, April 7, 1914.

Venus gives fair omen For many a woman.

Women should benefit in all things while this configuration prevails. The influences are especially favorable for those who are engaged in artistic professions.

When Venus is in good aspect, it is held that the mind strikes a happy vein and that the feelings and emotions are stimulated to a pleasant optimism. The influences of this day should tend toward success in new friendships between men and women.

There is a good augury for weddings. Bridesmaids are under a lucky sign.

It is said to be fortunate to deal with jewelers, lapidaries, goldsmiths, florists and painters under this configuration.

Managers of restaurants, hotels and dancing places should profit greatly while this aspect prevails.

Under ancient interpretations sellers of glass, mirrors and crystal were fortunate while Venus dominated the stars.

The power of the planet, which ruled poets, musicians, actors and artists of every sort, is held to be working toward a summer which brings prosperity to all who strive to win public approval.

Danger of increase in insanity and suicide, especially in California and other western states is indicated.

There is a prophesy that there will be many law suits over land in Canada and a temporary depreciation of values. A London astrologer finds that the eclipse of the sun in Leo, which will take place in August, presages the movement of armies, death of a king, danger of war and scarcity of rain, in the countries ruled by the sign of the lion. These include France, Italy, Sicily and Rumania.

All the signs are favorable for improvement in financial conditions everywhere in the country. Heavy crops in certain western states are prophesied.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have certain business anxieties, but their love affairs will prosper.

Children born on this day probably will be brilliant in mind, but too much inclined to enjoy company. Boys may have convivial tastes and should be guarded against temptation to drink.

Why CALUMET BAKING POWDER Is Better

It is not alone the wonderful raising qualities, or the certainty of results, or the purity, or the uniformity, or the economy, that is rapidly making Calumet the most popular Baking Powder. It is the perfect combination of all of these things.

You need only to use Calumet once to make you a constant user. Ask your grocer today—test it in your next baking. Insist on Calumet.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARDS World's Pure Food Exposition Chicago, Ill., Pure Food Exposition, France, March, 1912

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

Record Seekers Have Tough Job Ahead of Them

History of Diamond Performances Shows Great Feats, Chance Fielded .996 at First Base in 1910—Lajoie Holds High Mark at Second With .990 for Season of 1905

Each season ball players individually and as a team start out with the determination of smashing some of the old records and establishing new ones for themselves. Here are a few of the records taken from Spalding's 1914 Guide, which show the rather hazy task that confronts the players of this era who have record-breaking ambitions.

In 1909 George Gibson, the Pirate catcher, worked in 140 consecutive games. In July, 1908, Roger Bresnahan, then with the Giants, did not have an assist or put out in a ten-inning game. An average of .990 for the season was turned in in 1904 by Joe Sugden, who was with the Browns, in 1906 Jack O'Connor, of the Browns, in 1907 by Frank Bowerman of New York, in 1909 by Forrest Cady, of the Red Sox, and also by George Gibson, of Pittsburg.

In the pitching line Charles Radbourne, with Providence in 1882, worked in 37 consecutive games and won 28. In 1884, he pitched 72 games in one season—a record that was duplicated in 1889 by John Clarkson, then with Boston.

Keefe, pitching for the Giants in 1885, and Marquard, pitching for the same team in 1912, are tied with 19 consecutive victories in one season.

Charles Sweeney, pitching for Providence against Boston, in 1885, struck out 21 batsmen. Amos Rusie, in 1892 gave 261 bases on balls in one season. In 1875, Al G. Spalding pitched 67 games and got an average of .889 for the season. In 1904 "Rube" Waddell, then with the Athletics, struck out 343 batsmen in one season.

CHANCE FIELDED .996.

Frank Chance in 1910, while first baseman for the Cubs, took unto himself the remarkable average of .996 for the season. Jiggs Donahue, former first baseman of the White Sox, holds the other three records in the first basing line. In 1907, he accepted the highest number of chances—1,986; in 1905 he had 23 chances in one game, while in 1906 he had but one chance in the game—an assist.

In 1905 Lajoie, of the Naps, turned in the record fielding percentage for second basemen—.990. Lobert, of the Phillies, holds the third basing record, having acquired .976 in 1912. Turner, of the Naps, grabbed .973 while shortstopping in 1910.

In the outfielding line Frank Schulte, of the Cubs, hung up a record of .992 in 1905 in right. Patsy Dougherty, of the White Sox (1906) and Fred Clarke, Pirates (1907) are tied with .987 as to fielding, while Harry Bay, Cleveland (1904), Amos Strunk, Athletics (1912) and Tommy Leach, Cubs (1912), are tied with .990 at center fielding.

Ty Cobb Made Four Assists.

Clarke, of the Pirates, made four assists from the outfield in one game in 1910 and had ten putouts in one nine-inning game in 1911, both being record performances. George McBride, the Washington shortstop, enjoys the distinction of being the only infielder who ever went through a game without having had one chance to clutch the ball.

In the clubbing line, Hugh Duffy's record of .436 for one season in 1894 is the mark the star batters must shoot at. Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, made 248 hits in 1911. Brown, playing with Louisville in 1892, was at bat 658 times in one season. The Phillies, back in the late '90s, made 36 hits in one nine-inning game off John Wadsworth, of Louisville.

Clarence Beaumont, of the Pirates, got six hits in six times up in 1899, while Ed Delehanty, of the Phillies, got four home runs and a single in five times up off Terry, the Chicago pitcher, in 1896. "Buck" Freeman, the old Washington player, hammered out 25 home runs in one season, the best next achievement in this line having been by Frank Schulte, of the Cubs, who assexed 21 circuit swats in 1911.

In 1907 Hal Chase, then with the Yankees, batted safely 27 consecutive games. In 1911 Fred Merkle, of the Giants, made a home run and a two-base hit in one inning against the Cardinal pitchers. In 1912 the Giants made 12 two-base hits against a trio of Brooklyn pitchers.

In 1912 the Red Sox, by winning 105 games and finishing with an average of .691, hung up the best team in the American league. The Boston club, of 1875, which won 71 games and lost only 6, finished the season with an .899 average—the best ever compiled. The Chicago Cubs in 1906 won 116 games—the most ever won by any club in one season—lost only 36 and finished with .765.

A London futurist has sculped a boxing match. After studying it ten minutes we conclude it is Rudy Unholz swinging a short right on the free lunch counter.

Veteran Oarsman

Jim Ten Eyck

Jim Ten Eyck, the famous old oarsman, is hoping for another successful year at Syracuse. Last year Syracuse was not considered, but "Old Jim" fooled the wise ones and then won the four-mile event in the big intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie last June.

Fullerton Notes

Have faith in yourself, but don't expect par if you ever capitalize your popularity.

Judging from the date lines, the White Sox have quit their training trip and gone on an exploring expedition.

Those Cards and Browns have odd ideals. They think they ought to be paid for taking part in pre-season games.

Perhaps, after all, there is a reason for George Washington Zabel, of the Cubs, breaking into the majors. Were it not for him, we never would have known that Wetmore, Kan., is a dry town.

Jim Sheckard, manager of the Cleveland association team, says he does not know where Tolgdo is. Why, Jim, don't you remember, that's the place we used to get a stein and a sandwich going east?

Johnson, a Waco pitcher, gave six passes, hit two men, made two wild pitches and a wild throw in one inning, from which we deduce that Ed Reulbach has been pitching incognito again.

George Slosson has used the same billiard cue for twenty-one years. We have bought two cords of golf sticks in the last Yankee team. He is wiser this spring.

Commodore Jim Pugh, of Chicago, is building a new Disturber to replace the Third. The Disturber IV he expects to sweep the seas and the lakes—and to win for America the power boat championship of the world from the English.

Kid Kenneth is in the east looking for big game among the heavyweights. They pick 'em before they're ripe—but there—oranges and fighters both.

Frank Chance said last season he did not know there were so many bad ball players in the world as he found on the ankee team. He is wiser this spring.

They might at least have saved the statement that Ed Reulbach has perfect control this spring until April 1.

Baltimore is to have a half holiday April 15 in honor of the Feds. In return Bill Walker will buy all his oysters there.

Jerry Travers is going to try a new cinch. That old set must have rusted out, or else some one cleaned them.

Larry Cheney's injured shoulder healed rapidly after the railroad claim agent put a $50 poultice on it. They were stuck fuller of splinters than Saint Sebastian was of arrows, and the railroad wanted us to pay the doc who plucked them out.

Hello, Ed Walsh. Glad to see you back, even if you do cut into some of those .200 records.

MANAGER'S SONG.

But when it comes to the real thin, tra la,
What's needed's a head, not a wing, tra la,
So a veteran's given the place,
An' that's what we mean when we say or we sing

Frank Baker wasn't feeling very well. He made only a triple, a double and two singles in a game against Baltimore.

THE SPORTLIGHT

BY GRANTLAND RICE

(No 2. Washington, Pittsburg, Cleveland.)

The Washington ball club is stronger defensively than the Athletics. It is one of the hardest—if not the hardest ball club in the game—to score against.

BEST BET FOR SECOND.

Two years ago Griff inserted the missing Pep in his players' system and foraging from seventh place, took second place by storm and put the defenders to the sword. Having captured this citadel he defended it with abnormal valor last season and we don't believe he will be dislodged this year.

If he had an average pennant winning machine to beat he would have a corking chance, but his people haven't the wallop to cope with that club of Mack's. Which statement is true of any and all other clubs in either big league.

BETTER CLUB THAN IN 1913.

For all that we believe Griff will have a stronger club than he had last year when Foster was out for fifty games at the most vital point of the race and when other ailments set back his clan. He has one of he gamest, hardest fighting delegations in the battle line—and the fastest in his circuit.

Last season Washington batted about .254, far below the Athletics, Naps, Tigers and Red Sox. If he can raise this batting average ten points there'll be the deuce to pay. If he can lift his attack high enough to guarantee Walter Johnson one run for each nine rounds of pitching there'll be trouble. But he must find the missing punch.

PITTSBURG OUTLOOK.

If any ball club is to beat out McGraw's Giants it will be Pittsburg. And we doubt that the Pirates have yet come that far along from their disastrous break of 1913.

The Pirates floundered sadly last season and while Clarke has undoubtedly started them back into the Main Highway again he had a trifle too far to go.

Pittsburg should finish second—on form. Clarke has the most valuable infield in his circuit—the most powerful one in the game next to that manhandling horde of Prof. Mack's.

He has a wonderful outfielder in Carey; and a pair of likely looking larvae to coax Max at work.

But to beat out the Giants he must have Adams, McQuillen, O'Toole and Harmon at top speed—and this quartet doesn't carry the certainty of form that McGraw gets from Mathewson, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree.

The Pirate commandant has the strongest offensive club in the league, but he needs better pitching than he got last year. Adams and McQuillen should be of high rank, but Harmon and O'Toole are uncertainties. They have the stuff to round out a formidable four but they must achieve the knack of crowding this stuff over the plate.

CLEVELAND'S STATUS.

Cleveland is unlike the late Mr. Henley, who, "beneath the bludgeonings of chance," was able to present a bean that was "bloody but unbowed."

"The fell clutch of unkempt circumstance" has about obtained the Naps' goat. They have drawn twelve years of it now—twelve successive seasons of crushing bad luck. And when the pinch arrives, now they are beginning to wear their collars cut low, so as to be prepared for the worst.

THE NAPS AND WASHINGTON.

Birmingham, despite the double loss of Falkenberg and Chapman, still has a good ball club in the field. But whenever the showdown comes, Washington will probably step in and send off seven or eight straight wins, and "here she comes" quickly shifts to "there she goes again."

Cleveland has an uncertain club, with a range between third and fifth place. Her main battle will be to beat out the Red Sox and White Sox. A normal guess would be that she will be beat out one and finish fourth—or thereabouts.

THE GIANTS.

A Crack—it's Larry or the Chief;
Jack Murray's peg beyond belief;
McGraw and Matty—wondrous pair—
A pennant floating in the air.

BAB.

The Brooklyn Feds are a trifle anxious to obtain a run of information as to where Seaton will pitch this season because they would like to know as soon as possible whether they are to finish 1—2—3 or 6—7—8.

A PERTINENT QUERY.

Mr. Rene M. Genthon, official scorer of the Clifton White Sox, is up against a tough one. He officially scored for the Rah and White Sox, and it seems that one point has brought him into the range of a deadly fire.

In compiling the batting averages it seems that he gave a Mr. Richter the astounding average of .750. It is true that Mr. Ritcher, playing in but one game, got three hits out of four times up.

That part of it is in Mr. Genthon's favor.

But several of his critics, or "fools" he calls them in a letter to these disputatious, have assailed his work as raw stuff.

Their claim or criticism is about this: If Ty Cobb can only bat .393, playing in 140 games, how the deuce can a semi-pro bat .750, playing in only one game? "It ought to take him two or three years to bat that much," charges one.

At first glance the complaint sounds logical. But after pondering the problem we should say that Mr. Genthon may be mathematically correct, as nature defying as it seems.

Tesreau Wins For Giants

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—The New York Nationals won the second game of the series here with the New Orleans Southern association team Sunday by a score of 6 to 2. Tesreau was in splendid form and pitched the entire game for the visitors. The batting of Doyle, Stock, Burns and Sylvester, the latter a member of the local team, featured.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
New York	6	10	3
New Orleans	2	7	1

Amateur Hurler Fans 16 Men

A picked team from the Evan P. Howell school defeated the West Hayen school nine in the first game of the season by the score of 1 to 4. Springer hurled good ball for the Howell nine, striking out sixteen men. Harper and Springer did star work with the willow. The catching of C. Anderson for the Howell team was noticeable.

Large Entry List For Penn Relay

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—The completed entry list for the University of Pennsylvania relay races on April 25 shows the largest number of teams ever entered for the various events. In the classified relay races 256 teams are entered and 47 teams have announced that they will compete in the championships. In addition five colleges who have not entered relay teams will be represented in the special track and field events.

This did not mention the world series, however.

Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh says one punch, that which will knock out Jack Johnson, will be worth 1,000,000.

Finn Releases Two Players

MEMPHIS, April 6.—Mike Finn, manager of the Memphis club, this morning announced the release of Outfielder Norcott, a semi-professional of Little Rock, and Pitcher Hawkins, formerly of the Cedar Rapids club, of the Three I league. The players were sent to the Augusta club of the South Atlantic league.

Rockmart Boys Won

ROCKMART, Ga., April 6.—The Rockmart High school team defeated Cedartown High school, by a score of 11 to 10. Carter pitching for Rockmart struck out ten batters. Turner for Cedartown hit a home run. Batteries: Rockmart, Carter and Brooks; Cedartown, Sheffield, Parris, Pittman, Irwin and Duke.

Pirates Win

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 6.—The Pittsburg National league club defeated the St. Joseph team of the Western league Sunday, 6 to 3.

Pitcher Jean Dubuc Is Smart Ball Player

Star Hurler for Detroit Tigers Shows That He Possesses a Business Head as Well as a Baseball Brain—Had Succeeded Splendidly in Business Ventures

DETROIT, April 6.—Jean Dubuc should some day be referred to as the wealthiest man in baseball and the day is not so very far off.

They say Jean is a wise pitcher, and he is; has a good head and thinks fast and has that finer sense and all that sort of thing, but outside of baseball the brain that makes Jean one of the best pitchers in the business is making him one of the wealthiest capitalists in the good town of Montreal, where his real estate holdings are located.

A few years ago Montreal did not have a bowling alley. But the Canadians there liked bowling, when was showing on the lawns where they tried the game.

Dubuc decided that if people thought enough of bowling to bowl on the green they would be willing to send the ball down regulation alleys if they got the opportunity. Jean had about $2,000 saved up and he secured a lease on a building in the downtown district. This site stood on one of the best streets and was an ideal location.

Failure Was Prophesied.

There was no such thing as sympathy for Dubuc in his venture. All the wise boys of the city told Jean he would be broken inside of two months. The lease itself ran into thousands each year, and he would have a tough time meeting expenses each month. But Dubuc did some high financing and he opened his bowling alleys.

The Dubuc alleys proved successful from the start. They were engaged weeks ahead, and the boys worked from morning till midnight and often later. The alleys became so popular that Jean also opened a pool and billiard hall and a cigar store. Success kept crowding into everything he started. His three ventures proved "mints."

Today Montreal has more bowling alleys and pool and billiard parlors than any city of its size in this country, and also in Canada.

Dubuc was first in the game, the pioneer of his town, and his alleys and parlors still lead in the race for popularity. Those who laughed at him when he first proposed the venture stayed to pay him royalty on the amusement privileges he offers.

Enormous incomes from his business gave Dubuc a chance to dabble in real estate. Last winter he made one big transaction which has doubled his bank roll, and this is rather fair work for any man in the real estate game.

REPRESENTS SPORTING GOODS FIRM.

At present Dubuc is representative of the Carr Sporting Goods Manufacturing company. Carr has given Dubuc the privilege of placing the company's baseball in various colleges, and Jean, who attended Notre Dame and has many close friends in a large number of schools over the country, is selling the balls rapidly in large numbers. He says his commission from baseball will net him about $5,000 this year.

Although Dubuc is known only for his work as a major league ball player, the money that his pitching brings him is less than that coming out of any of his side venures. And at that Dubuc is considered one of the stars close to the $5,000 mark.

Player Hurt in Fraternity Game

ATHENS, Ga., April 6.—In the interfrat game between the S. A. E. and the Chi Phis today "Pat" Moses broke an ankle and will be laid up for some time. He is a law student at State university and former pitcher from Mercer and Macon Sally league team. He is signed to play with Memphis this season.

Western Nines Invade South

CHICAGO, April 6.—College baseball in the central states conference will start this week. Already some of the collegions have played practice games, and Michigan's nine, beginning its southern training trip, has played a regulation, defeating Kentucky in yesterday's battle at Lexington, 7 to 1. The Illinois squad will start south Tuesday. It is scheduled to play its first game at Tuscaloosa, with the University of Alabama April 9; April 10 and 11, the team will play at Georgia Tech; April 13, the University of Georgia, at Athens; April 14, the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

In addition to its "big nine" games, Illinois has games at Urbana, with the University of Texas May 1 and 2 and with Xelo University of Japan May 13.

Both Michigan and Notre Dame have important invasions of the east on their schedules. On May and 7, Arkansas plays at Notre Dame and on May 8 the Chinese-Hawaiian nine.

Michigan's southern trip includes games with Alabama, April 6 and 7; Georgia 8 and 9, and Vanderbilt 10 and 11.

Sheridan Seeks Lost Laurels

NEW YORK, April 6.—Martin J. Sheridan, former world's champion and all-round athlete, has started training with the expectation of winning back his lost laurels. Sheridan has been out of athletics for some time, and now he hopes to not only regain the championship, but to set a new record.

Since his retirement Sheridan has put on considerable weight, and it is believed this will aid him in the discus throw. He will probably enter several meets during the summer in preparation for the National Amateur Athletic union championships in September. He also, however, is trained on the Olympic games in 1916, and he hopes to be back to his old-time form to represent the United States at that time.

South Atlantic League Opens Playing Season Tuesday

South Atlantic League Begins Season Today

With Circuit Increased to Eight Clubs, League Starts on Eleventh Race—Managers Are Confident and Great Race Is Promised

SAVANNAH, April 6.—The eleventh annual playing season of the South Atlantic league will open today. Games are scheduled as follows:

Savannah, Ga., in Charleston, S. C.
Jacksonville, Fla., in Albany, Ga.
Columbus, Ga., in Macon, Ga.

The South Atlantic league is one of the few in baseball that follows the divided season plan. The schedule of 126 games is divided into two parts of 63 games each. In case the winner of the pennant in the first half of the full season does not win the pennant of the last half of the season, the two winning clubs play a post season series of seven games for the league's championship.

Augusta and Columbia have been added to the South Atlantic circuit this season, making the league consist of eight clubs instead of six, as heretofore. Both cities formerly were members of the league and were re-admitted last winter.

Th season will finally close August 3. The first half of the season ends June 17. League officials tonight said the prospects were for a most successful season.

Charleston Gulls Ready for Indians

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 6—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the South Atlantic league in Charleston today. Manager Hamilton has sixteen players, including himself, from which to pick his team that will start the race for the Sea Gulls. The Savannah champions will be the rival club, and as Charleston and the Georgia city have always been bitter enemies in athletics a record breaking attendance is expected. The game will start at 4 o'clock. The following is the probable line-up and batting order for the local team:

Russell, center field; Hamilton, second base; T. McMillan, right field; Bergen, first base; Bitting, third base; Stinson, left field; Cain, shortstop; Marshall or Dennis, catcher; Fister, Pats or Eldridge, pitcher. There will be a preliminary exercises to mar the opening, the players will simply take their positions in the field and the umpire will call "Play ball!" The Savannah team arrived last night, fourteen strong.

Fox's Crew Lands in Macon

MACON, Ga., April 6.—Manager James Fox, of the Columbus club brought over his players Sunday afternoon for the opening game in Macon today. Manager George Stinson is in segregation. Both clubs are in the best of condition, and the outcome of the game today is altogether problematical. Either manager was in position last night to name his pitcher for today's game.

Macon's line-up: Gonzalese, 3b; Matson, cf; Bowden, lf; Munn, 1b; Stinson, rf; Ford, 2b; Firestine, ss; Kluth, c, and Martin, Voss, Vaughan or Vil- son, p.

Jacksonville Team Leaves for Albany

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 6.—The Jacksonville baseball club left here Sunday afternoon for Albany, Ga., where they will open the 1914 season with the Babies tomorrow afternoon.

Manager Wilder will in all probability pitch Burmeister in the opening contest, as he is considered one of the best pitchers on the local club. The Jacksonville, in good condition for the 1914 grind in the Sally league, and the fans are expecting Wilder to be pennant contenders this season. The games with the world's champions greatly helped Jacksonville in finding the weak spots on the team.

Columbia Fans Move on Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6.—Several thousand loads of Columbians came out right for the opening of the South Atlantic league season here today. Manager Brouthers puts the "Comers" in the field today with all kinds of confidence. Neyenhouse, one of Wilhelm's recruits, sold to Augusta, is on the pitch, and Yuecus on catch. Indications are that all past attendance records will be broken here today. The batting order is as follows:

McCormick Releases Pitcher Ostendorf

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 6.—Pitcher Ostendorf was released outright by Manager McCormick today. Ostendorf will hold the rest of the year until May 14, when the salary and player limits must be observed.

Track Meet at Tech Wed'sday

Jackets Will Hold Inter-Class Meet—Including Usual Track and Field Events

On Wednesday afternoon Tech will hold an interclass field and track meet for the purpose of determining just what men are best at the various track departments, and also to determine the class champions.

Track practice has been going on at Tech for over three weeks now, and, as so large a bunch of promising material is trying for the official versity Tech track team this year, Coach Alexander is in a quandary as to just what men are the best. Therefore the track meet.

The following events will be pulled off in the order named: On hundred-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, one-mile run, 220-yard low hurdles, 120-yard high hurdles, hammer throw, shot put, discuss throw, pole vault, running high jump and standing broad jump.

There will also be a wrestling match held at the same time. This is not for the team, as the S. I. A. A. does not include wrestling in their events, but will be for the purpose of determining who is the school champion. There will be four classes, as follows: Light, welter, middle and heavy.

The winners in each event will count five for their team, second four, third three, fourth two, and fifth one. The class scoring the highest number of points will be declared the winner.

The meet will start promptly at 2:30, the faculty of the school having decreed a half holiday. Every class has a good bunch of athletes in it, and the meet is sure to be lively from the start to the finish.

Polo Practice Starts Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 6.—Practice for the international polo matches will be started on the Georgian court field at Lakewood, N. J., tomorrow. Captain Monty Waterbury and Henry L. Herbert, chairman of the Polo association, rode over the field yesterday and decided that with no rain it would be fit for practice Tuesday.

The officials and several players were out yesterday limbering up the ponies. George Gould was in the saddle with the players.

Illinois to Play Tech April 17

The University of Illinois baseball team, which is traveling through the south, will be seen locally when it appears here to play the Georgia Tech squad Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11 at Grant field. The following Monday they will play the University of Georgia at Athens and close their trip Tuesday with a game against the Kentucky State university.

Red Sox Lose

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 6.—The Columbus American association team made it two straight from the Boston Americans, winning Sunday, 3 to 1.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	3	7	2
Boston	1	6	1

Prep League Games

John Stewart has been elected to the captaincy of the Boys' High track team for the season of 1914, and has had his candidates out every afternoon for the past week, practicing for the coming prep track meet.

Tech High has been practicing their track team since the latter part of February and the team now is in good shape. Fowler, who distinguished himself with Marist last year, is captain of the Tech High track team.

	Won.	Lost.	Pc.
Boys' High	1	0	1.000
Stone Mountain	1	0	1.000
Peacock-Flect	1	0	1.000
G. M. A.	0	0	.000
Marist College	0	1	.000
Donald Fraser	0	1	.000
Tech High	0	0	.000

CINCINNATI'S PRETZEL INFIELD OUGHT TO PROVE A HUMMER ON DEFENSE THIS SEASON

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

If Cincinnati is not satisfied with the infield of the Reds this season, then German restaurants would better take wiener schnitzel off the bill of fare. That infield, which just now jumps up as one of the most formidable in defense of any in the land, ought to play ball with a pretzel-shaped diamond. Some of it! Hoblitzell, Groh, Niehoff and Herzog, with Berghammer as the substitute! If that infield isn't popular in there Wolert ought to chance his name to O'Reagan and serve chili con carne over the Rhine. As Charlie Dryden says, Herzog will be immensely popular in Cincinnati, as each half of the population will think he belongs.

Joking aside, the infield looks better and better as it goes along. It is working more smoothly, at least when I watched it, than any infield I saw, and there was action in every line. The pitchers are working beautifully with it, covering first at top speed, and they have turned Hoblitzell lose so that he ought to play with more effect than he ever has.

Old Bill Pickens has just received a letter from Kid McCoy. The Kid is coming home to America. That is news, not a warning, for the Kid says he is through with fighting and has called off his battle with Carpentier. He says he called it off for fear his friends would back him and possibly lose their money, and he admits that the old legs and back are not what they used to be.

Del Howard, of the Seals, declares that too much massage is what causes sore arms among the pitchers. He bases his argument on the fact that few of the old-timers had sore arms and that many of the present-day players who have lasted longest refuse to permit the rubbers to touch their arms.

The argument is a little askew. Proper massage of the arm is a wonderful help. The trouble has been that some rubbers overdo the work. But beyond that the ignorance of young players is the chief cause of sore arms. They find that rubbing is an easier way to get an arm into shape than throwing is, and they throw as little as possible. The result in that when they are forced to pitch hard or throw often, the arm is not strong enough to stand the strain.

* * *

I have just received the opinion of the man who is, perhaps, the greatest authority in America of contract law as to the legality of the contract of the organized baseball clubs and their players. After reading it very carefully six times, I am of the opinion that if Bill Killifer doesn't lose he will win.

SPRING GAME RESULTS

Tinker Hits Homer With Bases Full

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—The Eddys, a local semi-professional baseball team, was defeated here Sunday afternoon in the first of a series of four exhibition games by the Chicago Federal league team. Score, 13 to 0. Pitcher Seaton was loaned to the home team for five innings by Manager Joe Tinker, of the Chicago team, receiving indifferent support for the five innings he pitched. In the fourth inning Tinker hit for a home run with the bases full.

Detroit Wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 6.—The Detroit Americans won from the Louisville American association team here Sunday, 5 to 0. The day was too cool for fast ball.

Scribes Begin Tourney Today

Play in Newspaper Men's Golf Tournament Over Brookhaven Course Starts Today

The newspaper men's golf tournament over the Brokhaven course of the Capital City Country club begins today. Thirty-two scribes and attaches of the business offices of the three local dailies will take part in this tournament, and the winner will be awarded the handsome trophy offered by Colonel W. T. Gentry, of the Capital City club. In addition to the cup offered by Colonel Gentry, the runner up in the tournament will receive a driver, offered by A. G. Spalding & Bros. The winner of the second flight will be given a MacGregor brassie given by the Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company. A suitable prize will also be given the player making the lowest medal score.

5—Milt Saul, J. R. Gray, Jr.
7—Doc Atchison, Keats Speed.
8—W. M. Basketville, T. Forbes, H. T. Small.
9—F. W. Clarke.
10—J. S. Cohen, W. S. Farnsworth, O. B. Keeler, Angus Perkerson, W. B. Seabrook.
12—P. T. Barbour, Mike Cloftne, Innis Brown, Archie Lee, R. H. Rowe.
13—Evelyn Harris.
15—Tom Akers.
18—Roger Winter, J. R. Paschal, J. R. Gray.
24—Hank Price, Homer George.
36—J. D. Gortatowsky, Sis Falvey, Bradford Byrd, George Auer.

Atchison vs. Winter.
Price vs. Saul.
Paschal vs. Lee.
Forbes vs. Harris.
Speed vs. Clarke.
Jemison vs. Akers.
Brown vs. Seabrook.
Keeler vs. Byrd.
Small vs. George.
Gortatowsky vs. Baskerville.
J. R. Gray vs. Cohen.
J. R. Gray, Jr., vs. Auer.
Rowe vs. Falvey.
Halstead vs. Farnsworth.
Cloftne vs. Perkerson.

According to announcement, the first round must be played by Wednesday of this week, and the second by Saturday. The third must be finished by Wednesday of next week, and the fourth by the following Saturday. The final will be played on Monday, April 20.

The Brookhaven course is in excellent condition, and, with the exception of a part of the weather man, the tournament ought to be one of the most enjoyable ever pulled off in Atlanta. Scotty MacKenzie has been exercising his skill as a champion groundkeeper, and now the fair greens and putting greens are as smooth and accurate as any club in the south can boast.

The newspaper men entered in the tournament have been playing the course for the past week and, without exception, they are delighted with the condition of the greens. Some of them visited Brookhaven for the first time Saturday, and after one round discovered to their astonishment that low scores were as easily made there as on any of the older courses in this section.

MacKenzie and his assistants have worked particularly hard to get the putting greens in good shape, a fact fully attested by their present accuracy this early in the season. Usually the first tournament of the course after a winter of rain and snow finds the putting greens almost impossible to play on, and, as a rule, it is far in the summer before the greens begin to take on anything like accuracy. Yet the Brookhaven cups were consistently negotiated in one and two putts all last week by those possessed of putting skill, and the defeated players in this tournament will find no alibi for their downfall in the condition of the greens.

HOW DID TIM JORDAN GET OUT OF NATIONAL LEAGUE?

BY W. A. COLLINS.

NEW YORK, April 6.—One of the mysteries of baseball is why Tim Jordan got out of the big league. This is the same Tim Jordan who used to step to the plate with the bases full and bang the old pill over the fence at Washington park, Brooklyn, a few years ago.

Tim is now a member of the Toronto team, of the International league. Tim it is believed is to have a job as pinch hitter. Last year Tim, now that Moose McCormick has left. Although Mike Donlin was recently signed to play this role, it is quite likely that McGraw can use another slugger who does not lose his nerve when he comes to the plate with the well-known bases clogged.

Jordan was with the Brooklyn team from 1906 to 1910, inclusive. In 1906 he made twelve homers and did the same thing the following season. On several occasions his wallops came when the bases were full. These were his best years in the National.

In 1911 he was let off by Brooklyn for some reason and went to Toronto, where he showed conclusively that a bone by letting him slip out of the big show. Right off the reel Tim set the Canadian crazy with his mighty four-sackers.

At the end of the season he had piled up a thirty-nine home run score and started in again and beat his record of the year previous by one. Eight of his thirty-nine homers came when the bases were full in the ninth inning. But still the big leagues wouldn't give Tim a tumble.

Tim is not built like Ty Cobb and does not specialize on the hits that have to be beaten out at first. Tim wants the big fellows, and for this reason he was never able to bat better than .250 with Brooklyn. His hitting average in the International was also around these figures. Tim is up to his old tricks down south, and has lifted several over the center field fence.

Tim is married, hits the hay early and seems to think he has many years of batting in his system. Last Valentine's day he celebrated his twenty-ninth birthday.

Rochester Club Meets Crackers

Ganzel on Hand With His International League Entry to Begin Final Exhibition Series for Smith's Crew—Line-Up

Beginning the last week of the training season for the Crackers, John Ganzel, boss of the Rochester Broncos in the International league, is in the city for a six-game series with Manager Smith's valiant crew. Following his custom for some years past, Manager Ganzel has been training his bunch in Anniston, Ala., and made Atlanta his first stop on his way north with the club.

The Broncos have suffered heavier losses possibly than any other club in organized baseball from Federal raids. The outlaws have riddled Jawn's battle array, and the line-up which will be presented against the Crackers will be strangely different from the club which played here last season. Ganzel also lost several players by graduation to the major leagues, two of whom, Martin and Schmidt, came here this spring with the Boston Nationals.

However, there will be at least one familiar face with the visiting herd. Tom McMillan, the local star, has stuck to the Rochester club and will appear at short during the series here. Tom was approached by the Federal leaguers, but stated that the Rochester club gave him too square a deal last season when he was laid on the shelf with a charley for him to throw them down now. Tommy is the same classy little ball player that he has been for several seasons, and local fans can count on seeing some of the cleverest shortstopping ever displayed at Ponce de Leon when the ex-Tech star trots out on the field.

Manager Smith will doubtless use the same line-up that worked in Saturday's game with the exception of the battery. Kissinger will probably start on the mound, with Joe Dunn catching.

Distance Race For Motor Boats

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Motor boats will race over the longest course ever laid for craft of their class when they start from New York in 1915 to reach San Francisco by way of the Panama canal and win $10,000 in prizes, authorization of which was announced today by the Panama-Pacific exposition. The start of the race will be arranged so that each will be at the exposition grounds when the motor boat regatta is in progress in October.

The distance of the contest must have a minimum length of 65 feet on the water line.

Walter Dennis, of New York, former owner of the motor boat Caroline, which won the reciprocity race from New York to Halifax two years ago, has signified his intention of building a boat at a cost of $15,000 to $45,000 conditional on the guarantee that there will be at least two other boats entered.

Princeton Will Stage Track Meet May 16

PRINCETON, N. J., April 6.—A joint handicap track meet opened to A. A. U. athletes and all college trackmen will be held here May 16, according to an announcement today by Clarence E. Goldsmith, manager of the Princeton university track team. The meet marks an innovation in track athletics by inviting outsiders into college competition.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION.

Atlanta, Ga.

You are so kind to help others that I am writing hoping to get some help from you.

We have a Jersey cow, four years old, bought last September. At that time she had a calf two weeks old. Those who know say she has all points of a fine cow and we bought her for that. At the time we bought her she had a large, firm sack. We kept the calf three days. Before the calf was taken away she began kicking and her sack broke out with what the veterinarian said was cow pox. This lasted several weeks. We had an experienced milker to milk her, but this had to be done by pushing her against a wall and holding her with his knees and shoulder. I know that no milk was left in the sack. This cow was said to give four to five gallons of milk. Since that time she gives only about two gallons. Can you tell us anything to do to bring her back to her usual flow of milk? Had the milk examined before we began using it, after the scales came off, and it was pronounced good and pure.

We feed on shorts, bran, beet pulp and a little cotton seed meal. She has all the roughness she will eat, but does not seem to like alfalfa.

Anything you could suggest would be greatly appreciated. Do you think that when this cow has another calf she will be as good and give as much milk as before she had this breaking out on the sack, or does it injure a cow permanently? R. N. F.

ANSWER.

The cow will probably come all right when she comes fresh again, with proper care. Very often cows are affected as you say this one is. It most always leaves them shy of milk after they get well of this trouble. Another thing, they most always drop off in their flow of milk when moved to a strange place, the calf taken away from them and especially when they have the trouble yours did—cow pox.

A heavy milking cow is usually a high strung, nervous animal and it is almost impossible to move one and have them continue their usual flow of milk and do as they will if kept at home and not moved. A cow will also do better where she calves, and with proper treatment you should have no trouble with your cow this time. She will most likely be as good as ever and not give you further trouble.

H. G. HASTINGS & CO.,

SEEDS, PLANTS, BULBS AND POULTRY SSUPPLIES,
16 WEST MITCHELL STREET.

HELP REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING by planting a garden. A piece of ground thirty feet square will produce enough vegetables to supply an ordinary size family and they will taste a good deal better than the ones bought from the market. It's time now to plant, spade up the ground, then come to Hastings' and get your seed. It doesn't matter how well you prepare your soil or how well you work it, unless you have good seed you can't have a good garden. Don't take any chances, but come to Hastings', we have the very best of all varieties for this section.

DAHLIAS, DECORATIVE AND CACTUS. The dahlia is now one of the most popular of all flowers and our new decorative and cactus flowering varieties will surprise you in beauty of flower and rich colorings. Can supply them in White, Red, Yellow, Pink, Purple and Variegated at 15 cents each, 2 for 25c.

CALADIUMS OR ELEPHANT EARS. Splendid decorative tropical looking plants with immense green leaves. Bulbs, 10 cents each, 3 for 25c.

DOUBLE EXCELSIOR PEARL TUBEROSES. A favorite everywhere. Produce wax-like flowers that are very fragrant. Price 15c dozen, 2 dozen 25c.

HOUDANS

FOR SALE—"Faultless" Houdans. This strain has been egg-bred from trap-nest record since April, 1890. I have bred them 24 years for great layers and 14 years for large size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze and are the best all-winter layers in open front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for last six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece. It tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. E. F. McAvoy, Secretary Houdan Club, Cambridge, N. Y.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

MADDOX PROPERTY

ON NEXT TUESDAY (legal sale day), at 10 o'clock, we are going to sell before the court house door, a splendid piece of semi-central property on the corner of Pratt and Moore streets, just back of the Grady hospital. The property has a splendid depth, an alley on the side, and if built up in houses, would out-rent anything in Atlanta.

The terms are perfect; and terms are half cash, balance in twelve months with 6 per cent interest.

FORREST & GEORGE ADAIR

FUNDS ON HAND FOR IMMEDIATE DISPOSAL AT 7 AND 8 PER CENT.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

OF COURSE WE GOT THE BANK

We Atlanta folks knew all the time we ought to have it. But we have the added satisfaction now of knowing that it is proven to the world. Folks like to back a Winner. They will flock to our town in bigger droves than ever before. And they have to have lots to live on. ALL of them won't be satisfied with apartments.

The cry of a growing town is for lots. Lots to fix places for folks to live. Lots are growing scarcer all the time, and soon all the new homes will HAVE to be built in outlying sections.

This will make the few close in lots very valuable. You could not find anything better to put your money in

We are offering on Lucile avenue several beautiful 50-foot lots at prices you cannot duplicate. Just try to find anywhere else a lot like this for $1,350, and you realize how cheap these are. This property is as level as a floor, covered with handsome trees. Gas, water, sewer, sidewalk, and paved street are paid for. Pretty little bungalows spring up all around, and not an undesirable looking house anywhere in sight.

The terms are easy, and if you want to build, the owners are ready to make concessions on the terms that would enable you to put up a home with very little actual cash.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

REMEMBER TOMORROW IS THE DAY!

THE PROPERTY of the McLendon estate will be sold before the courthouse, at Decatur, within the legal hours of sale Tuesday, April 7. It certainly is a rare privilege to want real estate, and to be able to put your own price on it when you buy it; and as this property is to be sold to the highest bidder, this is your chance.

The Stone Mountain car line is carrying thousands of people through Clarkston every week, and all this property is in and around Clarkston. The house and about two acres fronting the Georgia railroad is one of the very prettiest suburban homes anywhere to be found. The house is new, seven rooms, with bath, and wired for electricity.

That 36 acres fronting car line nearly 2,000 feet, every bit of frontage available for home sites, about a mile this side of Clarkston, is the most luscious chance to make money on you will have.

Then there is the store lot, 40x80, right in the business center of Clarkston. It will enhance as the town grows.

That nice little 7.3 acres, one-quarter mile south of car line, is the place for your chickens and truck garden. All wooded. Sell the wood and get part of your money back.

How about the 21.31 acres in the town, right at school house, with streets on two sides, all suitable for subdivision? The early bird catches the worm, likewise the early buyer makes the profit.

Then on the Peachtree of Clarkston, not far from car line, is 11.2 acres. It is a beauty—all yours for your own price—if you are the highest bidder.

Tracts Aggregating Over $11,000 in the Oglethorpe Park Subdivision Already Sold—Building Still Behind Last Year, but Improving—Interesting Out-of-Town Sales Reported. Part of Oglethorpe Park Sale Is Recorded

S. E. Davidson, salesmanager of the Edwin P. Ansley agency, announced Monday that over $11,000 worth of tracts in the Oglethorpe Park subdivision between the Brookhaven club and Silver Lake had been sold, although the subdivision had been formally offered for the first time on Monday.

Four of the tracts were sold: The names of the purchasers and the exact dimensions of the tracts will be announced later.

About forty of the tracts are on the market now, but sixty or more will eventually be offered. Oglethorpe road, a main boulevard through the property, is now being opened, and other extensive improvements are being made in the subdivision.

Mr. Davidson notes a big improvement in real estate conditions, now that the weather has improved, and he says that Atlanta winning the regional bank has had more influence than any other single development in bringing about a general feeling of optimism.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENT.

The value of building permits since January 1 is still behind the corresponding period last year, but this month will wipe out the deficit and show a gain over last year.

By May 1 both the month of April and the period since January will show substantial increases over the corresponding periods last year, for this condition is already assured by the plans on file.

The year, from present indications, will be notable for the large number of building permits for apartment houses.

ELBERT COUNTY SALES.

Announcement has been made of the sale by the Broad River Granite Corporation of two large properties in Elbert county, Ga., for a cash consideration of $56,666 and $85,000, respectively. The first mentioned property was bought by the Oglesby Granite company and is generally known as the Ethridge quarry at Ethridge, Ga., while the second, which comprises about 200 acres with equipment and machinery at Oglesby, Ga., was bought by the Atlantic Stone company. H. L. Wiggs is president of the Oglesby Granite company, and W. G. Watson is president of the Atlantic Stone company.

The proceeds of these sales were used to retire the greater part of the bonded debt of the company and for other corporation purposes, $125,000 out of a total of $150,000 of outstanding bonds being thus retired and cancelled. This reduces the outstanding bonds of the Broad River Granite company to $25,000, the corporation retaining some of its choicest properties, one of which is leased to Vermont parties at a rental sufficient to pay the entire itnerest and sinking fund on the outstanding bonded debt.

Among the stockholders of the Broad River Granite corporation are some of Atlanta's wealthiest people. It is understood that the two companies which have purchased part of its properties have strong financial backing both locally and in the east.

ACREAGE SALE.

Papers went to record Monday conveying to Edwin P. Ansley from R. H. Hart two tracts composing part of the Oglethorpe park subdivision.

Both tracts are in land lot 12, one comprising 76 acres and the other being a large lot, 750x900. The aggregate consideration was $30,500.

LOWER CABLES AND GOOD WEATHER CAUSED DECLINE

Market in New York Closed 13 to 17 Points Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 6.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 5 points today and sold about 7 to 13 net lower during early trading. Disappointing cables and better weather in the south seemed to create reactionary sentiment and there was a god deal of cotton for sale. On the decline, however, there was renewed buying of May and July and the market rallied 3 or 4 points before the end of the first hour.

Demand for summer months became less active after the close of Liverpool and the market was unsettled early in the noon hour with active months about 8 to 12 points net lower.

Trading was less active during the early afternoon and prices sold about 9 to 13 points net lower under realizing and scattering local pressure.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—Improvement in weather conditions over the south and poor cables caused selling of cotton at the opening today. First prices were 5 to 6 points down and in the early trading the decline was widened to 8 to 9 points.

Liquidation of long cotton was met by a small demand and at noon the trading months were 13 to 14 points under the final figures of Saturday.

COTTON SEED OIL MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Cotton seed oil market was firm on buying through commission houses, presumably for account of the west, scattered covering of shorts and very light offerings. Demand from consuming interests remains slow, but some improvement is looked for in the near future as stocks are being depleted. Trading rather light, os the price mitigates againts a broadening demand.—Pearsall.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS NARROW AND DULL

Union Paciifc, Reading, Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Interboro and Copper Are Up

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 6.—Quotations of stocks barely moved at the opening today. Only a nominal amount of outside busines was on hand and execution of these orders had only a slight influence on the market. The undertone was steady with a majority of fractional gains.

Dullness of the market during the morning was pronounced, but the fact that prices advanced despite the paralysis of buying was regarded as indicative of sound technical conditions. Business ran largely to the indusrials and specialties.

Activities of speculative pools ceased in the early afternoon when prices drifted idly. Indifference of the market to the large decreases reported in February earnings by many lines was cited as indicating a thoroughly liquidated condition.

Bonds were steady.

Speculation was deadlocked in the final hour. Great Northern Ore came into prominence with a decine of a point. Last prices were virtually unchanged from Saturday's close.

Closed steady.

STOCK MARKET OPINIONS

New York Times: There is nothing to suggest that the rate case will be disposed of much before the end of June.

Wall Street Journal: The market seems to be in a sold-out condition, if the large interests were to take it in hand they could probably bring about an advance with ease.

New York Sun: Much interest attaches to the first grain report of the season, which is due on Tuesday and it is gratifying to know that the antecedent conditions regarding winter wheat are highly satisfactory.

FINANCIAL BUREAU ON STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 6.—Financial Bureau says: The stock market again shows a sold-out condition and may rally any time sharply. The underlying conditions are essentially constructive and advantage should be taken to buy on weakness for turns, especially in standard issues showing strong earning power in these dull times.

NEW YORK STOCK LETTER.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The general list is dull and firm, but there is strength in some of the specialties. The traction issues act well and we look for higher prices in these stocks, especially Interboro preferred. Alaska Gold is being advanced by the pool and is an excellent property with great possibilities. We have not changed our position and believe in higher prices for the entire list later on.—Potter.

HAYWARD AND CLARK'S COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 6.—Following the display of strength on Saturday, the week opens with somewhat easier markets. There has been a great deal of liquidation of straddle commitments and market relations are better. The weakest lines in the bear position have been corrected. Futures in New York, however, are still at too great a discount under spot prices and a further adjustment in this direction by an advance in futures seems inevitable. The McFadden interests are reported long of May in New York, probably with the object of drawing cotton there to increase the protection of the July short interest, which is exceptionally large.

Liverpool came in easier than due on futures, but good on spots which are quoted 3 points higher; sales 10,000. A letter from Liverpool says: "Cotton seems to us in a sound position; cloth and yarn business is going on steadily, although it is claimed at ruinous prices. Continental trade reports read better. While not doing well, they are starting to be busy." The combined effect of an easier Liverpool, better weather than expected over Sunday, and the experienc that support is usually less active during Easter week, caused an easier market her this morning.

The map shows fair weather in the centra states, parts of east Texas and the Carolinas; cloudy elsewhere; no rain except a little in Oklahoma. Rather low minimums in the eastern states with some frost in the northern portion. Indications are for unsettled and rainy weather in the western half of the belt with a distinct rain disturbance moving on north Texas and Oklahoma, followed by colder weather. News from New York says that the spot interests were the strongest buyers Saturday and the fact that they long of the market gives it a solid basis technically and checks bearish aggressiveness on the part of outsiders.

SUGAR MARKET.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 6.—Raw sugar, steady; molasses, $2.27; Centrifugal, $2.92; refined, quiet; cutloaf, $5.05; crushed, $4.95; mould A, $4.60; cubes, $4.15; XXXX powdered, $4.05; powdered, $4.00; fine granulated, $3.90; diamond A, $3.90; confectioners A, $3.80; No. 1, $3.65.

Weather Conditions

Forecast till 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Atlanta and Vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight.

A moderate storm is central this morning over Oklahoma, with the atmospheric pressure slightly below 29.75 inches. This is accompanied by threatening weather over the central valley and west, with moderate amounts of precipitation at scattered stations, extending northward into Canada and eastward over the lakes. Snow was falling at several stations this morning, namely, at Toledo, Green Bay, Sault Ste. Marie and Helena.

Temperatures are still generally low for the season over most of the country, and are considerably below freezing in the north from Buffalo west to Williston, with the lowest, 23 degrees at Duluth.

Fair weather is indicated for tonight and Tuesday, with somewhat warmer weather tonight.

C. F. Von HERRMANN,
Section Director.

COTTON GOSSIP

Washington—Long range forecast:

Fair skies were promised tonight by the weather bureau to the eastern part of the country, the first of the week, but unsettled conditions, probably with rain or snow, will prevail in the wake of a low pressure area that will travel eastward from the plateau region, reaching the seaboard about the middle of the week.

"Fair weather will continue," the forecast said, "probably most of the week in the south, except in the peninsula of Florida, where local rains will occur early in the wek. A low pressure area now over the plateau region will move eastward, attended by unsettled weather and local rains or snows in the plains states and the Missouri valley Monday, extending Monday night and Tuesday into the upper Mississippi valley and the upper lake region and reaching the lower lake region, the middle and north Atlantic states about the middle of the week.

"A short period of fair weather will follow, beginning Monday west of the Rocky Mountains, reaching the central portions of the country by the middle of the week and the east a day or so later.

"Another disturbance probably will reach the north Pacific coast by Tuesday. It will move eastward and southeastward and should reach the central portion of the country some time after the middle of the week.

"Temperatures will rise by Tuesday over the east and south, and no unusual temperatures are indicated at present over any section."

Map shows fair in the central states and parts of east Texas and the Carolinas; generally cloudy elsewhere; rather cool in Alabama and the Atlantics with some light frost in the northern portion.

Indications are for cloudy and unsettled, rainy weather in north Texas, Oklahoma, north Louisiana and Arkansas. Rain disturbance approaching from the west; part cloudy to fair in Alabama and the Atlantics.

Frosts—Nashville, Knoxville and Raleigh, N. C. (light).

Alabama—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably rain.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: May, 12.61; July, 12.35; August, 12.12; October, 11.66.

10 a. m. bids in New Orleans were: May, 12.76; July, 12.68; August, 12.38; October, 11.67.

Liverpool was disapointing and forecast was for better weather, this was cause for general selling on opening. Same crowd who bought last week were again buyers, most of which was said to be for spot people, opinions rather mixed.—Andy.

North Louisiana, in the heart of the cotton section, says: "Planting seed very scarce and those that saved them find it unfit, hard to get good seed anywhere. Acreage will be cut down on account of the poor quality outturn of this crop and the low money returns received for it. Season two weeks late."

Theo Price who has been persistently bearish on business and speculation on bull side for a long time, just told me he had turned and thinks no wconditions and prospects do not justify the prevailing pessimism.—Clark.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow, Jones summary:

Supreme court meets today. First six months new tariff law ended April 3, showing falling off of $25,000,000 in customs receipts from year ago. St. Louis shops of American Steel Foundry and A. C. and F., which have been idle for weeks to open today. Dayton and Hamilton reports 14 5-10 per cent earned for the year ended 1913, against 12.95 per cent in 1912. President Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, says traffic at present is as good as year ago. Twelve industrials 82.07, decline .04. Twenty rails 104.30, decline .04.

While the stock market may be dull and narrow for a few days, I look for higher prices when activity begins. In the meantime I expect to see advances in some of the specialties and would buy I. B. Q. and Third Avnue, Alaska Gold and Copper issues.—Potter.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say:

Corn—Present values seem to us most unreasonable and think prices will work lower.

Wheat Declined 1-4 to 3-8c, Corn, Oats, Pork, Lard and Sides Firm

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 6.—Wheat eased off today owing to large receipts northwest, lower cables and to prospects that the government crop report tomorrow will be of a bearish character. Commission house selling was general until the market encountered some scattering resting orders to buy at a decline. Prices opened ⅛c to ⅜c lower and made a slight further sag before showing any signs of a rally.

Foreign wheat statistics favored the bear side, a condition the reverse of what was looked for. Closed easy at ⅜@½ to ⅝c net lower.

Offerings of corn were quickly absorbed. Removal of import duties by Portgual and Missouri reports that stocks in farmers' hands were less than a third of the total a year ago tended to encourage the bulls. Quotations which at the outset were ⅛c off to ⅛c up, advanced gradually all around.

Extensive covering by corn shorts led to a decided bulge. Closed unsettled at ⅜ to ½@⅝c net advance.

Wet weather, certain to cause further delay to seeding, put firmness into oats. Trade, however, was light.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Liverpool did not respond to the late rally of Saturday; market was sold off by room traders in the absence of the foreign demand which was in evience last week. There was a fair demand, however, around 60 for May and at this writing there is no aggressiveness either way and trading is much lighter than on Saturday. There is a disposition to sell the new crop on more favorable weather reports.—Anderson.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Dick Bros. & Co.: It would not be surprising if at least a moderate reaction took place after this extensive advance, but the market appears to be headed ultimately higher.

Logan & Bryan: There is very little encouragement to sellers at this time.

LEGAL NOTICE

GEORGIA, Fulton County.—Under and by virtue of the power of sale granted to me, Joseph Sterne, in a certain loan deed from Anna Lou Ella Starrings to me, which deed is dated OcOtober 17th, 1912, and is recorded in Book 74, page 180, of the records in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of DeKalb county, Georgia, I will sell at auction, on May 5th, 1914, between the legal hours of sale, at the usual place for conducting sales at the court house in the city of Atlanta, in said state, to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the city of Atlanta, in land lot two hundred nine (209) of the fifteenth (15th) district of originally Henry, now DeKalb county, Georgia, being lot number six (6) of the S. T. Weyman subdivision, as per plat recorded in the clerk's office of DeKalb superior court, more particularly described as follows: Beginning on the northern side of DeKalb avenue at a point ninety-seven and six-tenths (97.6) feet northeast of Josephine street, which beginning point is the southeast corner of lot number five (5) of the Weyman subdivision and running thence northeasterly along the northern side of DeKalb avenue forty-eight and eight-tenths (48.8) feet to the Morris property; thence north along the line of the Morris property one hundred twenty-eight (128) feet to lot number seven (7) of the Weyman subdivision; thence west along the south side of lot number seven (7) forty-four and three-tenths (44.3) feet to the northeast corner of lot number five (5); thence south one hundred forty-five and four-tenths (145.4) feet to beginning point; said premises being improved property known as number 1068 DeKalb avenue, according to the present numbering of houses in the city of Atlanta.

JOSEPH STERNE.

BANKRUPT SALE

BY ORDER of the Hon. Alvan D. Freeman, referee in bankruptcy, granted on the 22d day of December, 1913, I will sell at public outcry, in the city of Fairburn, Ga., on the plant grounds of Fairburn Marble Company, bankrupt, at sale beginning on Tuesday, the 7th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock a. m., the following property of said Fairburn Marble Company:

The 2½ acres of real estate upon which plant is located, containing one main building, one small building and office building.

All marble and granite, finished, in process and in rough and other material.

Trustee will be at plant on Tuesday of each week, good reason not to contrary, for purposs of making private sales.

At the public sale a portion or all of the property may be offered for sale, both as a whole or in parts, and the sale, as a whole made—provided the price thereby exceeds the aggregate price of part sales, or vice versa—and all property sold at public sale delivered on ground. Possession of the real estate and possession and use of the derrick and necessary apparatus and machinery will be retained a reasonable time for removal of property, same to be removed at expense and risk of buyer. Spur track into yard.

A circular showing machinery, tools, marble and granite and material in detail may be had upon application to trustee. Property may be seen upon application to Amos Morgan at plant.

All sales, public or private, subject to confirmation of the court. Terms of sale, cash.

It was discovered that the rebel shrapnel shells would not explode and the artillery was useless.

General Maximo Garcia had been killed in the cavalry charge, General Trinidad Rodrigues had been wounded and Raoul Madero, brother of the martyred president, had been injured when his horse had been shot from under him.

RETREAT IS ORDERED.

The order for retreat was blown, and the first battlefield of the siege was left with its load of dead and dying.

The next day and the next the charges were resumed, hand grenades being used in place of the crippled artillery and men used as catapults for hurling these engines of death into the Gibraltar of adobe bricks.

Finally, on Friday night, the federals fired a final volley and then trotted across the railroad bridge to Torreon, leaving the rebels a deserted town of Gomez Palacio.

Human comforts had been forgotten in this desperate effort to win. The supply trains had been left behind at Bermejillo with orders to follow. The men had been fighting for days without food, and many dropped exhausted in the irrigation ditches and slept to the song of the screaming shells.

Water was scarce. When a little was found in the irrigation ditches of Gomez Palacio it was found to have been poisoned, and the agonies of dysentery were added to the tortures of the heat and the hell of modern musketry.

Gomez Palacio, having been taken, Villa instantly began preparations to take the city of Torreon. New artillery ammunition had arrived, and on Saturday afternoon the rebels began a bombardment of the pestiferous federal cannon on the mountains.

FEDERAL GUNS SILENCED.

Villa had noticed masses of infantry on Mount Colorado, there to guard big guns. Particular attention was paid to this. General Angeles' new shells burst this time, and soon the federals on Mount Colorado, Mount of the Cross and Mount Pila were silenced.

At nightfall the rebels charged on the city proper. Firing was savage the night long. It was apparent, however, that the heart was waning in the federals. Their resistance hadn't the stubbornness they had shown at Gomez Palacio.

Until Monday night there was little fighting, a surrender being expected. Finally Villa decided that, while he procrastinated, General Velasco, the federal chief, was strengthening the barracks and 'dobe houses in the center of the city. So now began the desperate, hand-to-hand night fighting from street to street which continued until the surrender.

All night long, that Monday night, the fighting was awful. The soldiers of both sides, hungry and thirsty and almost exhausted, fought like madmen.

REBELS KEEP BO...E IN.

Villa's men in squads of 10 and 20, bored their way from street to street, fighting other squads of the same size with revolvers, hand grenades and rifles, dodging behind corners, taking refuge in house doors and ducking from showers of bricks and boulders hurled from the tops of the houses.

The federals fell back, foot by foot, and sometimes groups of Huerta men would be found isolated in the fighting threw down their guns and dashed for the darkened desert rather than yield themselves as prisoners of war.

There was no thought of giving quarter. None was asked. The rebels, drunk with the spirit of battle, threw gas-pipe bombs into federal barricades and up on the roofs of houses, where their enemies were firing on them, while from the mountain sides, on the outskirts of Torreon, Villa's artillery showered shrapnel into the barracks where crowds of federal soldiers awaited the final onslaught of the rebel hordes.

It was a scene of battle transplanted from the middle ages into the 20th century; high explosives and automatic pistols taking the place of pikes and swords.

Into this hell came looting and the other horrible features of war. Soldiers of both sides dragged out barrels of liquor and broke into business places and private houses.

Crazed looters were seen staggering along the streets shouting and screeching and singing with long Strands of costly lace wound around their necks and trailing in the gutter and with beautiful ostrich feathers stuck into their hats. All the while the clatter of rifles, the roar of cannon and screech of machine guns split the air.

So the night passed. Bright and early in the morning, however, General Villa and his staff arrived on the scene and in a brief hour order took the place of chaos. He had the doors of drinking places nailed up, stopped the looting and ordered that anybody caught selling liquor should be shot on the spot. And Villa saw to it that his orders were strictly enforced.

ALLOWED TO KEEP LOOT.

Nevertheless, it is true that Villa also ordered that looters be allowed to retain whatever they had captured.

And so the fighting went on intermittently day and night until Villa's steady plugging literally wore the enemy down to earth.

The hardest fighting, with greatest losses, was done by the rebel Durango brigade. To us Americans this brigade was the most interesting of all the soldiers on this bloody field. They know what fighting is. For eleven days last fall they fought and raged around this same city of Torreon. Much of the time with nothing to eat and little to drink. That battle was a failure. This time they won.

The Durango brigade goes into battle singing. Their feet know nothing about shoes. They wear sandals. Their legs are bare and their plain trousers and blouses are in rags. Their arms are the old Springfields and their cartridges are so few that when they shoot they shoot to hit.

The Durango rough riders will now have better clothes—free—out of Torreon clothes!

No such battle could be fought without great bravery on both sides. Some of the crack federal regiments were in the town and they were the backbone of the defense.

REGIMENTS OF CRIMINALS.

Some of the regiments consisted of only criminals who had been taken out of the jails and pressed into the ranks by order of Huerta. These regiments were filled up with peons who had been drafted much against their own will. In the case of these jails and criminals the officers made them fight by standing behind them with cocked revolvers.

General Velasco's army also contained many volunteers, some of them hard-riding fellows who formerly fought with Orozco, the hero of the Madero revolution. If any of these were captured they are all dead by this time, because Villa swore he would shoot them down in cold blood because of their devilish treatment of women, torturing of prisoners and killing of harmless peons.

The rurales, famous as old man Diaz's mounted constabulary, fought to the last ditch. I heard a story of a squad of ten of them who were hemmed in between two wings of General Villa's army. They were spotted and pursued, and one after another they were potted during a chase of some twenty miles, but not a man showed a sign of surrender from first to last.

CROWDS FLOCK TO VILLA.

Nothing succeeds like success in this revolution. No sooner had Villa captured Gomez Palacio and dislodged the federal artillery from the mountains than peons—men, women and children—began to flock into Villa's camp and ask to be given guns that they might fight for the constitution. Hundreds were taken in, among them a number of boys not much more than thirteen or fourteen years of age.

One father went to Villa's tent and begged him to give him back his boy. The lad was called and insisted that he wanted to fight for the constitution, turning to the father, the general said:

"You see! He believes in our cause! I will not refuse him the right to fight for his country. This is the way we make men out of Mexican boys. Do not ask me not to make a man of your boy."

HAWKINSVILLE MAN IS SLAIN WHILE SLEEPING

Harry Lee, 18, Held Pending Investigation of His Uncle's Death

(By Associated Press.)

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., April 6.—P. O. Bonnell, twenty-two years old, was killed here early Sunday as he lay in bed sleeping. An ax apparently was used in the murder. Harry Lee, nephew of the dead man, and who roomed with him, is being held by the police pending an investigation. Lee is eighteen years old.

The youth denies any connection with the killing and claims it was done by a negro. He claims he was awakened by the noise made by the negro in time to see him escaping from the room. Bonnell is survived by a wife, now living in Florida.

DR. WALKER PREACHES HIS FAREWELL SERMON

First Presbyterian Church Pastor Leaves Tuesday for California

Rev. Hugh K. Walker Sunday morning preached his farewell sermon as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta. A very large congregation was present, and after the sermon the communion was passed.

Dr. Walker, in the course of his sermon, commented on the fact that the First Presbyterian congregation in the past eight years has given the enormous sum of $600,000 to various Presbyterian enterprises at home and abroad.

Tuesday evening Dr. Walker and his family will leave for Long Branch, Cal., where he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Long Branch Presbyterian church.

—TOMORROW MORNING, AT 10 A. M.—

Men of New Orleans, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, and Birmingham, Invest in Your Financial Center

At Auction, Tuesday, April 7th, 1914, before the courthouse door at 10 a. m. Two exceedingly valuable pieces of central income property on Alabama St. belonging to the W. A. Hemphill estate, on the N. W. corner of Central Ave. and Alabama St. with R. R. frontage. Also, property known as 51 and 53 E. Alabama. These properties are under lease, and in fact, are never vacant.

The public would not have the opportunity of bidding on such property except that some of the heirs have brought a partition suit in order to separate the interests. This is a chance of a lifetime, and under ordinary circumstances these parcels of land would not be upon the market. The property is in a most ideal location, always rented and pays a handsome income, and we are safe in saying that the public will not find this property on the market again in many years.

The terms will be one-fourth cash, balance on or before 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years, bearing interest at 7% payable semi-annually. The Title Guarantee Co. will issue Certificates of title. For plats and information apply to
